

Churchill Urges Prompt Cease-Fire UN Debates Invitation to Red China

HUTCHISON FROM OTTAWA

PM-Duplessis Fight Looks Like a Draw

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
Editor of the Victoria Daily Times

OTTAWA—The centre of Canada's fiscal gravity has been drastically shifted by the emergence of a completely new federal-provincial tax system. But what of the political gravity? Who, in short, has won the long struggle between the federal and Quebec governments and between two eminent French Canadians, Louis St. Laurent and Maurice Duplessis?

The answer to that question is essentially Canadian—neither side has won. Not yet anyway. Nevertheless, a new chain of political circumstances has begun and its results, though incalculable, are bound to affect the whole body politic from now on.

The St. Laurent government, to begin with, has definitely retreated in a financial sense by giving Mr. Duplessis a huge financial concession. Federal income taxes in Quebec or any province which refuses to rent its basic taxes to Ottawa are to be reduced by 10 per cent.

Hutchison

Thus all such provinces have been given a field of their own where they can collect large income, and also corporation taxes if they wish to do so without double-taxing their people. Few will do so, but the basic Rowell-Sirois theory that the great direct tax fields should be under federal control has been quietly abandoned after being stubbornly defended since the early Second World War years.

Mr. Duplessis says he has not received full justice from the federal government and his grudging acceptance of Ottawa's new policy is a kind of political victory for Mr. St. Laurent. For if Mr. Duplessis had been fully satisfied, the result among English-speaking voters would have been extremely dangerous to the federal government. It would have been said that a French-Canadian prime minister had surrendered to a nationalist leader of his own race.

Certainly there has been a partial surrender of an existing federal tax policy, but in fact that policy was so unjust to the people of Quebec that it could no longer be maintained.

True enough, the injustice was actually imposed by Mr. Duplessis when he refused to accept federal subsidies, already accepted by all other provinces. A national government, however, is responsible for the whole nation and could not tolerate an injustice to a third of that nation.

Advance Into New Tax Policy
What was a retreat in a strictly fiscal sense was therefor really an advance into a new national tax policy, the full contents of which will not be revealed until a federal-provincial conference next autumn.

How will all this affect the voters of Quebec and the English-speaking provinces? Mr. Duplessis' prestige must be high today for he has established his own clear tax fields—limited but lucrative.

Temporarily the Federal Government knows that it has disturbed many English-speaking voters who expected Mr. St. Laurent to move on from his historic Reform Club speech into a broad attack on Mr. Duplessis and Quebec isolationism. The disappointment, Ottawa thinks, will be temporary.

CLOUDS DELAY SEARCH FOR RCAF JET

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Thick, low clouds rolled in over the British Columbia coast today, preventing search planes from continuing the hunt for a T-33 jet training plane missing and believed crashed with two men aboard. The plane was believed to have gone down somewhere in the remote coast mountain range about 90 miles north of Vancouver while on a flight from Gimli, Man. Aboard were FO K. Bradley of Belleville, Ont., and J. L. Nelson of Ottawa. Both are married.

The trainer was last heard from just after 3 p.m. (PST) Saturday afternoon. It was last seen on an RCAF radar screen between Lillooet and Bridge Rivers.

CBC Faces Strike Vote Wednesday

Board Rejects
Wage Demands

OTTAWA (BUP)—A conciliation board report released today rejected the wage and other demands of some 770 technicians of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. A strike vote of the employees has been called for Wednesday. The corporation, in a prepared statement issued today by general manager Alphonse Oulmet, said Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg had been informed by letter that the CBC would accept the majority report of the federal conciliation board. The majority report was signed by the chairman, Prof. C. H. Curtis, Kingston, Ont., and H. Brooke Bell, Toronto, representative of the corporation.

MINORITY REPORT

A minority report, signed by Miller Stewart, Sturgeon Point, Ont., the nominee of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians (NABET), disagreed entirely on the wage issue but agreed on the matters of overtime, classification and the handling of multiple functions by an employee.

The union represents master control men, sound effects specialists, maintenance crews and engineers. Personnel in television affected are cameramen, microphone boom operators, lighting men, projectionists, film processors and control room workers.

A strike of the workers would tie up both the radio and television networks of the corporation.

Britain Stands Fast As U.S. Ally

LONDON (AP)—Commonwealth prime ministers tonight were reported agreed that the Nationalist Chinese should surrender islands off the China coast—Quemoy, Matsu and the Tachens—as part of a deal for a Formosa cease-fire.

By KENNETH MILLER

LONDON (UP)—Sir Winston Churchill told leaders of the British Commonwealth today that they must not be drawn into a policy on Formosa that would "infringe dishonor or humiliation" on the United States or the United Nations.

Authoritative sources disclosed the content of the prime minister's speech, which was delivered behind closed doors of 10 Downing Street at the opening of a conference of the leaders of all the Commonwealth nations.

Churchill stuck to this previously declared British policy in the Pacific crisis:

1. That the first objective must be to get the shooting stopped.

2. That nothing can be gained by attempting now to apportion blame for the Formosa dispute. Political and government feeling on Formosa has run against the United States in some Commonwealth areas—notably in India and in some sections of Britain itself. Former Laborite British prime minister Clement Attlee has accused the United States of intervening in Red China's civil war.

Both Churchill and Eden have stressed that attempts to fix blame cannot help to produce a solution. And Russia's resolution in the United Nations, seeking to place the blame for the situation on the United States, falls in this category.

SITUATION "GRAVE"

The 80-year-old Churchill, who has anchored his policies for decades on the Atlantic alliance with the United States, described the Formosa crisis as "grave." Sources reporting on the conference said he commended New Zealand's efforts in the U.N. to get Communist China to attend a meeting and discuss a cease-fire.

"It would be a prudent course," he said, to direct efforts to stop the Formosan fighting. He described efforts in that direction as "a duty we owe to peace and to our own consciences."

Authoritative sources said Churchill noted that one key point of Britain's previously stated position has been a public declaration of faith that the United States "has no aggressive intentions."

STANDS WITH U.S.

These sources said the significant fact of Churchill's statement was his emphasis that he has no intention of turning against his American ally if the Formosa crisis forces the world to choose up sides.

Churchill met with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and other members of the cabinet at No. 10 Downing Street after driving to London from his country home where he conferred Sunday with Commonwealth representatives.

Eden reported to Churchill on his meeting Sunday night with Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru on a Formosa cease-fire and on his talks with New Zealand's Prime Minister Sidney G. Holland, whose country is sponsoring the cease-fire resolution in the United Nations.

'Meet the Navy' Producer Dies

HALIFAX, N.S. (BUP)—Retired naval captain Joseph P. Connolly, producer of the wartime "Meet the Navy" show, died here today at the age of 59. Connolly was born in Dublin, Ireland, but came to Halifax as a child.

Exile Chiang, Hold Vote In Formosa, Says Attlee

LONDON (AP)—Clement R. Attlee, leader of Britain's Labor Party, wants Chiang Kai-shek and his top Nationalist officials exiled from Formosa.

The island's people should then decide by plebiscite whether they want to join Red China, Attlee said in a copy-right interview in the Labor newspaper, the Daily Herald. In any case, the United States should drop forthwith the claim that Formosa is part of its Pacific defense ring.

"I cannot see myself that the island of Formosa is an essential part of the defense of the United States of America in this era of the hydrogen bomb," Attlee said.

The combat-ready U.S. Seventh Fleet stood by for possible orders to evacuate the Tachen islands, 200 miles north of Formosa and eight miles south of Yikiangshan, but the U.S. Navy chief in the Pacific said Sunday such orders had not yet been given.

The defense ministry reported all was quiet farther south in the Quemoy area.

PRINCESS WINGS OVER ATLANTIC

Winds May Allow Royal Plane
To Refuel at Montreal Airport

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret left today in the Strato-cruiser Canopus for a month's tour of the West Indies. If winds are favorable, she will go via Montreal.

Once she reaches the Caribbean Princess Margaret will transfer to the royal yacht Britannia and visit Tobago, Grenada, St. Vincent, the Barbados, Antigua, St. Kitts, Jamaica and the Bahamas. She will return home by plane March 2.

Just before the plane departed it was announced that the first stop would be Goose Bay, Labrador, rather than Gander, Nfld., because snow was forecast at Gander. At

Russia Demands U.S. Quit Formosa

MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov announced today that he has relayed to Red China Britain's recommendations that Peiping accept a United Nations invitation to join in a debate on the Formosa crisis.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Sir Leslie Knox Munro of New Zealand, president of the UN Security Council, proposed today that Red China be invited to send a representative here to take part in the debate on a Formosan cease-fire.

Munro made his proposal immediately after the council refused to consider a Soviet demand that Nationalist China be barred from the debate.

The New Zealand diplomat suggested that the council suspend its discussions until the Chinese Communists can get a representative here.

He said UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld already had established contact with the Peiping regime. Hammarskjöld, he said, should urge the Communists to accept the invitation.

The council ran into its first controversy when the Soviet delegate tossed in his demand to bar the Nationalists.

The vote was 10 to 1, with only the Soviet voting to consider excluding Nationalist China.

The move to throw out the Soviet demand was made by chief U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and quickly drew support of the other big Western powers.

The Western powers thus won the first round test of the 11-nation council squared off to seek an end to the fighting between Chinese Nationalists and Communist forces.

The council then began a procedural debate on the form of its agenda.

Soviet Move Complicates Issue

The issue was complicated by a Soviet move to include on the agenda a charge of aggression against the United States and a demand that all U.S. forces be withdrawn from the Formosa area.

The Soviet proposal to oust the Nationalists was made by Soviet delegate Arkady Sobolev immediately after the Security Council met.

Sobolev said: "The great Chinese people have their own state, the People's Republic of China, created by their own will. Only they are entitled to represent their people in the great arena of the United Nations. Instead, the representative of a bankrupt group sits here."

He moved a formal resolution that Nationalist China be barred from the council table.

Henri Hoppenot of France objected to the Soviet resolution. "The representative of the Republic of China," he said, "recognizes the People's Republic of China and believes the question of representation must be decided here. But not at this time. Her Majesty's government feels it is neither wise nor timely to consider it at this time."

Some Day—But Not at This Time

Diplomatic observers had expected the council to reach quick agreement on a proposal to invite Communist China to participate in the discussions on ending the fighting between the Communists and the Nationalist forces.

David Johnson, head of Canada's permanent delegation at the UN, had predicted that the session would be finished in a day, recessing for approximately two weeks until the Chinese delegates arrived.

The UN charter requires that both sides in a dispute be invited to be represented. If Red China does send spokesmen, they will be able only to speak, not to vote.

Bone Returned to Girl's Limb After Cancer Killed by Cooking

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Dr. Vernon P. Thompson told today how he removed a cancerous bone from the thigh of a 20-year-old girl, cooked it in a sterilizer to kill the growth, as she lay on the operating table and then replaced it in her leg. He said the girl had a localized cancer in a six-inch piece of bone. He said he was reluctant to use plastic or metal parts for the missing bone because the woman, at 20, had a long life expectancy and there was no assurance substitutes would last that long.

He cut a 6.4-inch piece of the femur out, put it in a steam pressure sterilizer to kill the cancerous cells and then fitted it back in.

Thompson said the girl spent nine months in bed before being able to walk on crutches following the first operation. When she did begin walking with crutches the bone cracked but in succeeding operations he strengthened it with a split from the girl's shin bone.

He said she now is able to walk slowly without a noticeable limp and is working at a full-time job.

ATTLEE WILL SPEAK
HERE IN MID-APRIL
Former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee will wind up a trans-Canada speaking tour in Victoria in mid-April, it was learned from Vancouver provincial CCF offices today.

Dates are not yet set but it has been assured that the leader of Britain's Labor Party will speak here under auspices of the Victoria-Oak Bay CCF.

Harold Thayer, CCF provincial secretary, said Mr. Attlee will be fulfilling a promise made last year when he returned via Vancouver from a trip to Red China. Exhausted from his Far East tour, he was unable to appear at the many functions which had been planned in his honor, here and on the mainland.

North Pole Plane Hits Trouble Early

Nerve-Shaking Flight From New York First Chapter in Colorful Arctic Saga

WINNIPEG (CP)—A colorful troupe of Arctic explorers from New York limped into Winnipeg Sunday night, their adventures starting even before they left civilization.

The party—it includes a concert pianist, a Hollywood scenario writer, a cameraman, a cosmic ray physicist, an artist and a still photographer—landed in their crippled DC-3 plane after a perilous 1,500-mile flight from New York. The plane became coated with ice after the defrosting equipment broke down.

The pilot and navigator, Capt. Marvin Griggs, said he was forced at times to lean out the window to chisel ice from the windshield. Officials at Stevenson field said the pilot was badly shaken up after guiding the plane down.

The group is headed by Lt. Col. John F. Stanwell-Fletcher, who spent nine years in the Arctic with the RCMP.

The party stopped here overnight for repairs to the plane and were scheduled to take off today for Fort Churchill, 610 miles north, on the second leg of the journey.

From there they will fly to Chesterfield Inlet, 200 miles farther north on Hudson Bay, where for three weeks they will study the terrain. The party will return to New York to evaluate its findings, then set out March 1 for the North Pole where experiments will be made with a secret ice-testing device developed by Col. Stanwell-Fletcher.

Sponsored by American and Swiss private industry, the expedition will cost more than $300,000.

FIERY OUTFIT Members of the expedition stepped off their plan dressed in specially-designed nylon parkas and heavy boots. Col. Stanwell-Fletcher's wife, Peggy, sported a fire-engine red outfit with polka dot lining.

Mrs. Stanwell-Fletcher, who hopes to be the first woman to land at the North Pole, is a concert pianist under the name of Peggy Kennan.

The cameraman is Victor Jurgens, of New York, who produced prewar "March of Time" documentary films. Emmett Murphy will write the script for a movie to be made of the expedition. Hugo Neuberg is the cosmic ray physicist.

A former newspaper cartoonist, Mel Cummin, will paint scientific features of ice formations, snow conditions and depth diagrams.

The party is carrying special survival and rescue equipment, including rifles, fish spears, signal and smoke flares. They will live in snow houses in the Arctic. The temperature in the Churchill area Sunday reached 52 below.

Alcan Power Break Fixed By Week's End

KITIMAT (BUP)—A break in the 80-mile Aluminum Co. of Canada transmission line between Kemano and Kitimat is expected to be repaired before the end of the week.

Work crews reached the scene at the mile-high, south-eastern entrance to Kildala pass on Friday, where a freak snowslide had crumpled two aluminum and steel transmission towers and damaged a third.

A spokesman for the company said today that the work crews are still at the scene repairing the damaged towers and broken lines. No further word is expected until completion of the job.

The power failure Wednesday left the 4,000 population community of Kitimat and the big aluminum smelter here without power. An auxiliary power unit has been serving the town but production has been halted at the smelter.

'Fun for All' Show Will Open Solarium Shower of Dimes Drive

"Fun for all!" That's what they are calling it and that's what has been planned.

Tuesday night at 7 the doors of the Crystal Garden will open for the Solarium Junior League's "Fun for All" show, ushering in the month-long 1955 Shower of Dimes in aid of the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

And at 7:30 p.m. Health Minister Eric Martin will declare the campaign officially open. Officials of the league have planned entertainment for children and adults alike.

There will be games galore for the small fry early in the evening.

Directly following the opening the YMCA "aquanymphs" will stage a water ballet. This will be followed by a display of RCN "frogmen" and an aerial trapeze performance, also by navy men. YMCA swimmers will present a clown diving act.

For those who prefer dancing, two ballrooms will be available, one with old-time and the other with modern. Len Acres orchestra will preside in the Flamingo room and the Home towners will play in the lower ballroom. The upper ballroom will be reserved entirely for games.

During the intermission of the dances, two dance displays will be presented.

The Western Square Dance Association will give a demonstration of square-dancing and the Let's Dance Club will demonstrate the tango.

There'll be plenty of prizes, too.

Top door-prize will be an RCA Victor television set. Also listed as door prizes are a bicycle, a Hudson's Bay blanket, ice-skates, a cowboy outfit, and a floral display.

To be given away during the evening are such items as auto accessories, a steam iron, radio, a bedspread, grocery hampers, cushions, hams, dishes, cigarette cases, ash trays, lighters, and many others.

About 150 individual prizes will be presented.

All prizes have been donated by local businesses.

Members of the league will sell corsages during the evening.

Invitations have been extended to representatives of the three armed forces to attend and to provincial and civic dignitaries.

All proceeds from the evening will go to the Shower of

Mystery Woman Latest Clue in Playboy Murder

350 Attend Rites For Rubinstein

NEW YORK (UP)—Murdered playboy-financier Serge Rubinstein was buried today with a startling funeral oration which termed him a psychopath, a frustrated and loveless money genius and even called attention to his conviction as a draft-dodger.

As police searched for a mysterious "woman in brown" who may have led Rubinstein's killer or killers to their victim, some 350 persons attended funeral services conducted by Rabbi Julius Mark at the Campbell Funeral Home. Mark is senior Rabbi at Temple Emanuel E. of which Rubinstein's 78-year-old mother, Stella, but not her son, is a member.

After his recitation of Rubinstein's complex character, the rabbi noted that the dead multi-millionaire was "a devoted son and a loving father" who took full responsibility for all whose lives touched his and assisted them "with generosity."

"Our hearts go out in sympathy to his adoring mother," Rabbi Mark said. "She should be comforted in knowing that her impetuous, gifted and restless son now rests in peace."

"The word 'paradox' best describes the ambiguous, complex and psychopathic character of Serge Rubinstein," Rabbi Mark told the mourners. "He had a genius for acquiring wealth but never learned the lesson that money is a good servant but a harsh master. He was frustrated because he wanted friends but never had them. He wanted love, but never learned that it must be won and not bought."

Rabbi Mark went on: "He called America the greatest land, but ignored the pleas of his friends to serve it." Rubinstein served a term in federal penitentiary for his successful attempt to evade military service in the Second World War.

"He wanted security but lacked inner security," said Rabbi Mark. "He feared death because he had no faith."

Esquimalt Police, Firemen Amalgamate

11-Man Force Undertakes Two Jobs Under Joint Chief Gilbert Stancombe

Amalgamation of Esquimalt municipal police and fire departments on a trial basis for 1955 was agreed upon by police-firemen and municipal officials Saturday, Reeve A. C. Wurtele said today.

The 11-man force will function from March 1 under Chief Gilbert Stancombe, who has been chief of the two departments for several years. He will work out details of unification, Mr. Wurtele said.

TWO BENEFITS

Firemen stand to benefit two ways through the arrangement: Weekly hours of work will be reduced from 44 to 40, bringing them in line with police; and like police, they will receive a $20 a month bonus, formerly paid for "stand-by duty."

Stand-by duty was abolished this year on complaint of the men, but bonuses were retained. "We may not like the idea for Esquimalt," the reeve said, "but we think it will work." The plan will be reviewed when 1956 wage agreements with the police-fire department are considered, he said.

WAGE TALKS

Further wage discussion will be held next Saturday, at which time a police request for increases, made about two weeks ago, will be considered.

Any increase granted to police-firemen will be retroactive to Jan. 1, it was agreed.

All men, eight of which were police, will receive training in both fields and will be expected to function as either police or firemen at any time during their shifts.

If the plan meets with disfavor, either employees or the municipality may ask termination and continuance of the former plan.

Canada-U.S. Relations Deteriorating?

Ambassador Stuart Issues Warning

EVANSTON, Ill. (BUP)—R. Douglas Stuart, United States Ambassador to Canada, warned Sunday that the "unparalleled cordiality" between the two North American neighbors is in danger of deteriorating.

Stuart said Canadians "find it increasingly hard to laugh off American ignorance and misconceptions about them."

He said the Canadians do not take this country for granted, but they resent "being taken for granted by us."

Stuart said it cannot be assumed the present cordial relations "will continue as they are, without conscious effort on the part of citizens of both the United States and Canada."

The ambassador, addressing a Founder's Day convocation at Northwestern University, said Canada is of "greater importance economically and defensively to the United States than any other country in the world."

Stuart said that exclusive of military aid, the two-way trade between the U.S. and Canada exceeds this country's total trade with Europe.

But he said "if we want Canada to remain our best customer, we must do all we can to make it easy for this two-way trade to continue."

Russia Would Support Peaceful Evacuation of Tachens Says INS

NEW YORK (AP)—The International News Service says Foreign Minister Molotov has indicated the Soviet government might be willing to ask Communist China to permit a peaceful evacuation of the Tachens Islands by the Nationalist Chinese if the United States should request such a step by the Kremlin.

INS says Molotov made the statement during an 80-minute interview Saturday with publisher William Randolph Hearst, Jr. and Kingsbury Smith, European general manager of the International News Service. The latter wrote the story.

Smith said Molotov was asked: "If no agreement could be reached by the UN Security Council for a permanent cease-fire between the Chinese Communist and Chinese Nationalist forces, what would be the Soviet attitude to the possibility of temporary cease-fire to facilitate Nationalist withdrawal from islands close to the mainland now under attack?"

"I can provide a short reply to that question," Smith quoted Molotov as saying. "If Chiang Kai-shek should desire to withdraw his forces from any islands hardly anyone would try to prevent him from doing so."

Other Molotov statements as cited by Smith: "The situation in the area of Taiwan, or Formosa as you call it is of course such as to draw everybody's attention to it because it creates tension in the Far East and reacts negatively on the whole international situation."

"It presents a threat of war. I cannot fail to add that in my view the responsibility falls on the United States in view of its interference in Chinese internal affairs in Formosa, which is an integral part of China."

OWNER OF SIX-MILE HOUSE, S. S. Stewart, stands outside Island Highway tavern holding picture of original hotel built 100 years ago. Hotel marks centenary next month.

Parsons Bridge Taproom Hits Century Mark

By TONY DICKASON

Wearily travellers have stopped here for a century to rest and slake a thirst before going on their way.

On foot, on horseback they came at first, along the winding dusty road from Victoria; today they coddle their Cadillacs along the smooth highway and into the wide parking lot.

But essentially the "mine host" services of the Six Mile House have been the same for the last 100 years, an event which will be marked next February 16.

The original "House" looked just like its name, a rambling wooden structure opened "with a grand spree" in 1855. Name then was Parsons Bridge Hotel, after William Richard Parson, a miller who ran the hotel in those early years.

The hotel, then and now, fronts on Millstream, an inlet with which the early Spanish explorers were doubtless familiar.

Early in the last century there was a sawmill, a grist mill and a tannery at the hotel's location, and it was the grist mill that the original hotel owner ran.

No one knows how many times the hotel has changed hands, or had alterations, or been rebuilt. Records are of the vaguest. The present Tudor-like structure was built about 1928 and is in the exact location of the early edifice which, like so many early wooden buildings, eventually fell a victim to fire.

The tap room rang in the olden times to the shouts and laughter of British tars from the Esquimalt naval base established in 1864; there is talk it used to be the headquarters for rum-running at a later date.

Today, however, the House is a quiet, well-conducted establishment operated the past four years by S. S. Stewart, who bought it from J. Custock who ran the establishment only a short time.

There have been dozens of owners, one was the grand-mother of Wilf Gouge who has the Tudor House. "She had the Six Mile maybe 80 years ago," he recalls.

The inn got its present name when it was a stop on the staging route between Victoria, Sooke and Metchosin. While still bowing to modern necessities, Mr. Stewart does his best to preserve the atmosphere of the past.

On the walls hang pictures in massive frames of the old establishment, and there are still pioneers in the district who recall, with gratitude, the pause that refreshed in the long buggy or stage drive home from "the city."

NEUTRALIZE FORMOSA UNDER UN-COLDWELL

MONTREAL (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF, said Sunday Formosa should be neutralized under United Nations sponsorship.

He told a press conference the West should do everything possible to negotiate an understanding between Communist China and the United States.

Mr. Coldwell was in Montreal to address a meeting sponsored by the Montreal Israel Histadrut League.

Admission of Red China to the UN is long overdue, he said.

"It is incongruous that a representative of an expelled leader such as Chiang Kai-shek should pretend to represent China in the UN and in addition have the tremendous power of the veto."

Factory for Handicapped To Be Studied in Seattle

A factory for handicapped persons in Seattle may become the model of a similar type of plant in Victoria.

Members of the executive of the League of the Handicapped in Victoria will travel to Seattle within the next two weeks to visit the factory of Goodwill Industries Ltd. The group, numbering about six, all will travel in wheel-chairs.

The executive hopes, according to league president Fred Blakeney, to learn enough about the company to be able to plan a similar project for Victoria. The plant, which employs some 300 handicapped persons, is engaged in repairing used articles, everything from furniture to clothing.

It is hoped, Mr. Blakeney said, that formation of such a company here would fit in with the organizations project to construct a combination dormitory-dining room-auditorium this year.

Approximately 40 handicapped Victorians have indicated they would take part in the plan.

Reds Have 6 Million Armed Says NATO

400 Divisions Available Within 30 Days Says Report; West Force 100 Divisions

PARIS (AP)—The Soviet Union, East Germany and the East European satellites have more than 6,000,000 men under arms, says a report issued Sunday by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Soviet mobilization system can bring 400 divisions to readiness within 30 days of a mobilization order, says the report, drawn up by NATO secretary-general Lord Ismay.

Against this strength, the Western alliance now has 100 division of ground troops, but this figure includes both active and reserve forces in varying states of combat readiness, the report said.

The 280-page report, entitled "NATO: The First Five Years, 1949-1954," recalled that in 1949 the Western alliance could oppose Russia's might with only 12 divisions, 400 airplanes and a small number of naval vessels.

STRENGTH BUILT UP

By the end of 1954, NATO's air and naval arms had built up strength in proportion with the main body of ground forces.

The report showed that a year after the NATO treaty was signed the West had about 14 divisions and fewer than 1,000 airplanes on the continent of Europe, while at the same time Russia had 25 divisions and 6,000 airplanes outside the Soviet Union, all ready for immediate attack. Backing this force were 175 ground divisions in Russia.

Then the Korean War broke out on June 25, 1950, and "for NATO the period of cautious optimism and slow methodical progress was over."

CO-OPERATION INCREASED

Defense production was stepped up. The amount spent by member countries on arms and equipment rose from less than $3,000,000,000 in 1949 to about $25,000,000,000 in 1954.

"Co-operation between member countries in defense production matters had increased to a degree which 10 years ago would have seemed unbelievable," the report said.

During this five-year period, Canada and the United States together contributed about $30,000,000,000 in NATO aid to

At a Time of Crisis

FEW COMMONWEALTH CONferences have been held in an atmosphere of greater international tension than that which pervades the gathering in London today.

It is striking evidence of the importance of the Commonwealth and its weight in world affairs that the top subject of discussion for the prime ministers should be the Formosa crisis, rather than a topic of intramural interest.

This arises from several causes, among them the immediate efforts of Britain and New Zealand to obtain a cease-fire in the area of conflict, the sheer weight of numbers involved in the Commonwealth populations, the outstanding position of Canada as the near neighbor and confidante of the United States, and the unique status of the great republic of India, balanced midway between two ideological worlds and able to exert an influence on both by reason of its political and geographical importance.

In this connection the contribution of India's Prime Minister Nehru is awaited with interest. Shortly before leaving New Delhi he conferred with the Peiping representative and is believed to have received a possible clue to solution of the Formosa problem.

A Good Beginning

FINANCE MINISTER WALTER Harris is to be commended for the 1955-56 estimates tabled in the Commons last week. For the first time in seven years they indicate a reduction in the national expenditures. Approximately $153. millions has been cut from the budget, all but $20 millions through retrenchments in defense.

The cuts represent a decrease of 3.3 per cent from the current year's spending, but it cannot yet be determined accurately whether this relationship will hold. In the first place, current totals may still be augmented by supplementary estimates before the fiscal year is out. In addition, Mr. Harris' figures will also be subject to upward revision in the coming year as supplementary estimates are received.

The estimates as totalled do not include more than $367 millions for old age pensions, which are handled from a special fund. Inclusion of the latter figure would make it extremely difficult for Mr. Harris to show a surplus in the coming year, despite his courageous effort to effect economies.

As it is, projected expenditures will total $4,360 millions, and with the inclusion of old age pension payments, $4,726 millions.

When it is considered, for instance, that although the RCAF took a cut of $109 millions, the bill for air defense in the coming year will still be in excess of $880 millions, the astronomical nature of defense costs will be appreciated.

It cannot, unfortunately, be said that the defense cuts represent a diminution in the war hazards that menace the world. Rather they may indicate that the initial problem of modernizing Canada's defense equipment has been satisfactorily met—that to avoid drastic tax increases we may for a time taper off what amounted to emergency spending.

Mr. Harris evidently found it impossible to cut non-defense spending by more than a negligible amount. These items still total some $2,380 millions. Defense thus continues to take nearly half our annual budget, and there is little prospect that the proportion can be significantly changed in the foreseeable future.

These were the first estimates tabled by Mr. Harris since taking the finance portfolio last summer, when Mr. Abbott retired. He has made a good start, and left at least a hope that further economies may later be effected.

Deeper Than Sentiment

FEW APPEALS FOR CHARITY touch the hearts of the public more closely than those in aid of children. It is deeper than sentiment—it is a part of our racial heritage—that we should do what is possible to help children in need. To ignore such an urge is to turn our backs on one of the basic ingredients in the dignity of man.

It is therefore to be expected that the forthcoming "Shower of Dimes" campaign in aid of the Queen Alexandra Solarium will be strongly supported by the men and women of this community.

It would be difficult to name an institution that has achieved more miraculous results in treatments for youngsters. The twisted limb, the damaged heart—these have responded to skillful care and loving attention at the Solarium, to win a reputation for the establishment that is second to none. To convert a little bed-ridden cripple into a happy, frisking child—can any act be more rewarding, can any cause be more worthy?

In the coming month it will be the opportunity and privilege for every adult in this province to contribute to this work. Need more, can more, be said?

Object Lesson in Crime

LAST WEEK LOCAL NEWS-paper readers were given another chapter in the rewards of crime. They read the sentence imposed upon a young man for armed robbery. It was severe. In addition to a long prison term it included strokes with the paddle.

The moral stands out harsh and clear. Here was a man who had started a career outside the law by stealing cars. That was followed by an armed fight in which he shot a police officer, leaving his victim hovering between life and death for weeks. Later he was taken at the end of a police chase after armed robbery of a bank.

The Hills of Home

IN DIFFERENT WAYS AND with varying eloquence members of British Columbia's legislature are now telling their fellows of the attractions of a great province.

Each man, it appears, has some charm to describe in his riding. It may be well-publicized scenic grandeur. It may be the air that smells woefully about his home. It may be the fish in a plunging river, the lift of an upland meadow, the green of a valley, the warm friendliness and shared enjoyments of a small hamlet.

In paraphrase they sing "The Hills of Home" and hearing, the listener finds new depth to his country.

These are the unconscious and effective salesmen of British Columbia—the men who stir the Chaucerian spirit which makes men "longen to go on pilgrimages" and sends them by the thousands vacationing in their cars to the less-known regions of the province. They are doing a job to support the familiar slogan, "See B.C. First."

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

LAST week I said I'd tell you some more about the mountain of notes on my desk. Very well, then. Here is a note about a clerk in a music department who charged me double a fair price for some English music, and when I objected that a shilling is only 14 cents these days, she said "Not in this store. In this store a shilling is 30 cents. We've got to eat, you know." And if music be the food of love, eat on alone, lady.

Here is a clipping about the National Exhibition of Cage Birds that opened at Olympia, in London, earlier this month. There were 4,000 canaries and 3,000 budgerigars and 2,000 other birds. The budgie blokes are a bit snooty with the canary blokes, and vice versa, so that in his address at the opening luncheon, Sir Richard Haddon was impelled to say "I must not be invidious. When I am a bit invidious, I get the canary boys on me and get the budgie boys on me." This is not only a good snatch of public speaking, but very English. I have heard good speeches in the United States, but hardly in this precise tone, "somehow." The slightly mocking repetition of "invidious" and the undertones of the word "boys" and of the expression "get them on me"—these are very lovely. Far lovelier than parakeets.

HERE is quite an old clipping, going yellow and brittle, quoting an English doctor who says psychiatrists are wrong to make people normal, or to try. "It is maladjustment that makes the world go round. Too much effort is being made to turn people into sheep. It is the cranks, the people who do not quite fit and the people who are individuals who get things done and make for progress." Mind you, a lot depends on what you mean by progress. And by "getting things done." And I think the cranks should be jolly grateful to us sheep for kindly consenting to stand around as a contrasting background. If everyone was a crank, the cranks wouldn't stand out.

HERE are a few memoranda (among hundreds and hundreds). There is a boys' school in California. The fees are $4,000 a year. There is almost no school-work... classes begin at 4.00 p.m. I suppose it is thought a real education for rich boys to meet other rich boys. As horrible examples?

Note of an invention of mine: canned blueberries heated and thickened, and poured over vanilla ice cream with a little gin. Gin isn't used in cookery enough, or at all. It goes wonderfully with watermelon... it almost gives this insipid fruit a flavor, fancy that.

Note on a friend of mine who demonstrated a point about B.C. geography by tapping on a map of Washington. I said, "But that is the State of Washington." He said, "Yeah. I know. But use your imagination. Now suppose this (pointing at Mt. Baker) is the town of Hope." Note on the real name of Bob Hope, which is Lester Hope. While there's life there's Les Hope.

NOTE on a mainland writer who feels it is a sign of weakness (!) for British Columbia to feel superior to eastern Canada... the mystic east. He thinks only the inferior feel superior, and that superiority is always a sign of worry, and a true complex. I wonder if he would permit a live man to feel better off than a dead one, a full man than a hungry one, or a good singer than a bad one. And would he tell us which is weaker: to admit that Toronto exists or to pretend it doesn't? (I do both at once, I am ambivalent.)

Note on a woman examining cheap but unpleasant potatoes at a roadside stall: "Ah, sure, they're just windfalls." Note on a child realizing, with some astonishment, that it takes more effort to say "T.V." with its two stresses, than it does to say "television" with one stress.

NOTE on listening to string quartets: try to keep your ear on the viola. It is in the centre of things. If they have a centre... and they should, for a string quartet should not be too dispersed in its composition. It should (so to speak) fly in formation.

And speaking of music here is a note copied I know not whence. "There should be little doubt that Wagner was a true genius. But his greatest gift of all, perhaps, was his real genius for borrowing money." About conductors: a good conductor must not only tolerate but actually enjoy the whole range of first-rate music and most of the best second-rate as well. This is not only a compliment to his catholic taste but a limitation and a criticism of him.

INCIDENTALLY, I may have mentioned this before but it is worth mentioning again: a friend of his once told me that what she liked best about Jan Chermiavsky, of Vancouver, was his ability to get something valuable and enjoyable out of every concert he ever attended, and to share something of this with his friends, so that they were always learning from him. Even at a very wooden and mechanical concert by Egon Petri, a rather uninspired Hollander, many years ago, I remember his saying during the intermission: "Listen hard, it is very interesting, try to remember it. This is an experience for you. I doubt if you will ever hear that particular old style of piano playing again." This was said without the least trace of malice and sarcasm.

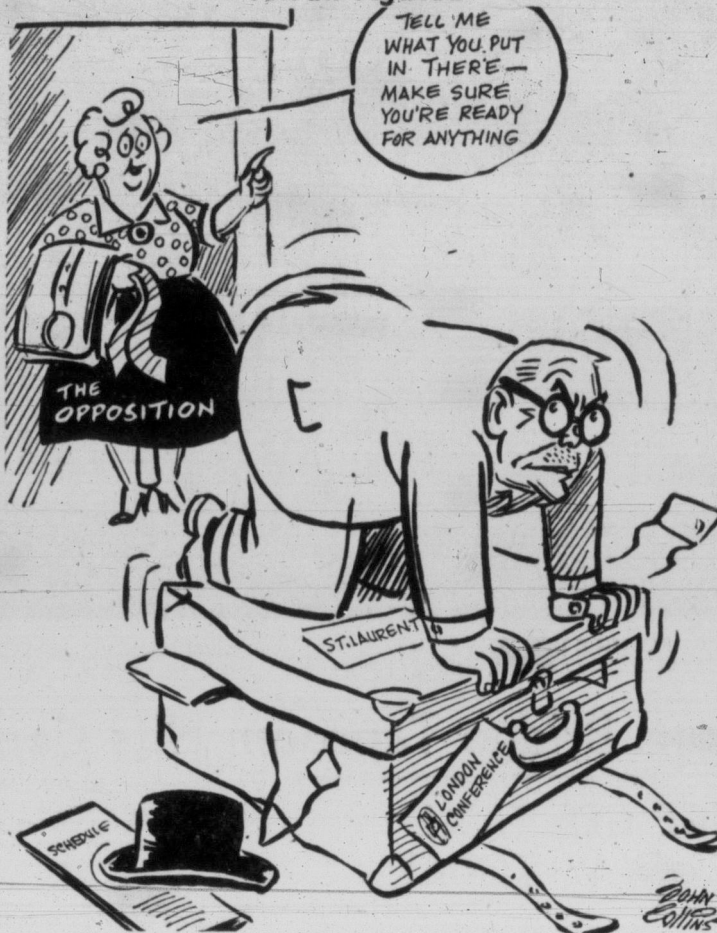

Here is a note telling me I can make a pleasant sauce by heating ketchup (proper Miami ketchup, not the sweetened commercial stuff) with garlic and butter. And so I can. But I can't remember if I invented this myself or learnt it elsewhere. A good sauce for vegetables, which I certainly didn't invent myself, is one part bacon fat, two parts vinegar, and a little mustard.

Well, that's enough notes off my desk for now. We must denude it.

A Full Agenda

'They Might Derive Considerable Pleasure'

I have just read with interest the review on your Jan. 15th Book Page of the volume A Sort of Ecstasy by A. J. M. Smith. The reviewer's personal preference in verse is not subject to debate, but some of his remarks may give a false impression to persons who have not seen the book.

Of the thirty-six poems included, only the first four deal even indirectly with war. The first one, Ode: The Eumenes, might be called a statement of the plight of contemporary man, (although the author would probably disclaim so pretentious a definition). The Common Man is also a figurative poem in which blood and guts are notably absent, as they are in the short and moving verse, A Soldier's Ghost. The Dead is a straightforward poem which might merit a number of adjectives, but scarcely the one "posey-ing".

The other poems in the volume range over a variety of subjects, from complex personal statement to such clear description of Northern landscape as The Lonely Land:

Cedar and jagged fir
uplift sharp barbs
against the gray
and cloud-pled sky;
and in the bay
blown spume and windrift
and thin bitter spray
snap
at the whirling sky
and the pine trees
lean one way.

The reader-for-pleasure is particularly urged to turn to the French-Canadian folk song, Brigadier, and to the lovely lines beginning "There is a sorcerer in Lachine". Incidentally the title of the

FOR BILINGUALISM

I read the article by Gerard Filion in your Saturday issue. It reminds me of a point in which I am in favor, i.e. Canada being more or less a bilingual country. I consider that every child should learn to speak French at the very earliest age—it is to me astounding how very few can. In South Africa every child speaks the two languages—English and Afrikaans. Even in England which is not a bilingual country I started French at 7, Latin at 10 (and I was not brought up a Catholic), German at 13 and I certainly was no prodigy.

This country should buck up in its education. My word! I'm going to get it in the neck for saying this.

OBSERVER

HIGH TIME

I read with interest the article by Art Stott called "Capital Letter." The tone of weary cynicism and small town innuendo was quite nauseating and hardly likely to stimulate interest in the affairs of the province.

The press usually tends to take the flavor of its town, and if the affairs of Victoria to the legislative assembly is really one of bored indifference it's high time one of them was moved.

'Always Value in Personal Opinions'

There is always value in the expression of personal opinions, whether these agree with those held by many or most others, or whether they are in direct disagreement with them. It is likely that the opinions on Theism, expressed by Dr. Brock Chisholm recently, are in the latter class, for, whether they are or are not able to give proof of the faith that is in them, most members of our society here, do possess a vague belief in the existence of God.

As one who has held this faith and has helped others to attain it for many years, I would like to point out that the position taken by Dr. Chisholm is neither new nor original, but has been expressed in varying form for centuries. Faith is always the rational resolution of doubt, as one of our own poets has said:

"There is more faith in honest doubt Believe me than in half the creeds"

So, believers need not fear but welcome this latest expression of doubt for it will spur them to examine the bases of their faith and in the end become able to justify it for themselves and for others.

There is one phase of Dr. Chisholm's argument which weakens his total case.

He makes use of the historic incident which witnessed the attack upon a scientist by the Orthodox Church of the time. It is implied by Dr. Chisholm that this scientist was denying the existence of God, whereas he was presenting a new description of the relation in space of the sun, earth, moon and stars.

The position of Galileo was not accepted then, but its general acceptance since has not weakened but rather strengthened belief in a God, by "whose all powerful fiat these mighty wonders were created." So the incident supports the position which Dr. Chisholm is attacking.

This merely goes to show that when one is using reason in one field to condemn the use of reason in another, he becomes irrational himself. This is obviously what Dr. Chisholm has done, not only with respect to the conservatism of the Orthodox church in its cosmology, but in making reason the sole guide to a vital faith in the Living God.

Ever since Emmanuel Kant wrote his "Critique of Pure Reason," no enlightened student of religion has trusted to the intellect alone as a guide to truth. As Henri Bergson has said, the intellect or reason is a tool for man in his practical living to cut out for him portions of matter or reality, and shape them into intelligible order.

As far as the Christian Faith is concerned, it holds with the Old Testament that "no man hath seen God at any time." It is not the movement of man toward God that discloses the Sublime Presence; but the movement of God toward man.

Revelation of Himself has been the classical way in which God has imparted to his children a growing portrait of what He is. This is scientific. It is more valid than the "a priori" hypothesis and a logical proof of the idea that there is a God. Life becomes a laboratory in which this great idea is tested and proved to be true.

As one has said, "O taste and see that the Lord is good."

In conclusion I wish to thank Dr. Chisholm for his word and to suggest that some suitable body arrange for a panel discussion over the air on this subject. Some churchmen, professional men in other fields and ordinary lay men could participate.

C. G. MACKENZIE.

'Impression on a Thinking Person's Mind'

I read with interest, and considerable amazement, a Reuters news report from London, England, carrying an account about Mrs. Margaret Knight, Aberdeen University psychology lecturer, suggesting "humanist" parents tell their children that God is a fable like Santa Claus.

Mrs. Knight, according to the report, is alleged to have made her denial of God and presented her belief over two radio broadcasts from the B.B.C.

The report stated the B.B.C. gave Mrs. Knight freedom of the air, despite much criticism, and is now braced for another outburst of public indignation as she has recently made her third broadcast to seek to deny existence of God.

With Mrs. Knight and her theory, I am not very greatly concerned. Such people come and go in our society frequently. Their names and their beliefs rise and fall like an ocean tide, to be remembered no more.

In that newspaper account there is a far greater, and more damaging force at work than one can fully realize. A subtle force to undermine the morale and attack the whole structure of human kind and faith in God.

Early in the Second World War, I went to England in the Canadian Military Police, and later to Europe on the "D-Day" landings at Normandy—like many other Canadians. During those war years we got to know the British people very well, and like other troops from the Dominions, made many true and lasting friendships. Neither time nor space permit telling now of the many inspiring and heroic deeds which the British People gave to the World during those trying times—both soldier and civilian alike! In so many cases, there was courage displayed far beyond the call of duty. British courage, resourcefulness, and the tacit manner in which the people went about their affairs, left a deep impression on a thinking person's mind.

Thinking now of our late King, Sir Winston Churchill, Field Marshal Montgomery, General Dobbie, and a host of other great British rulers, statesmen, and military men, one is reminded of their courage and how, in particular each man I have just mentioned acknowledged God in one manner or another. We recall readily how the late King asked for the national days of prayer during the War; also, Mr. Churchill referring to "the Almighty" in some of his great speeches.

Once we have considered the insults cast upon the intelligence, wisdom, and courage of our late King, the statesmen, and superb military leaders, in suggesting in any way that the God they called upon was only a myth, we would consider the B.B.C. itself. Isn't Communism anti-God, and anti-Christ? Might we ask this question, could it be there are those in the B.B.C. who are Red-tinged and in sympathy with Moscow? Perhaps not, but to thinking people that question will arise in their minds.

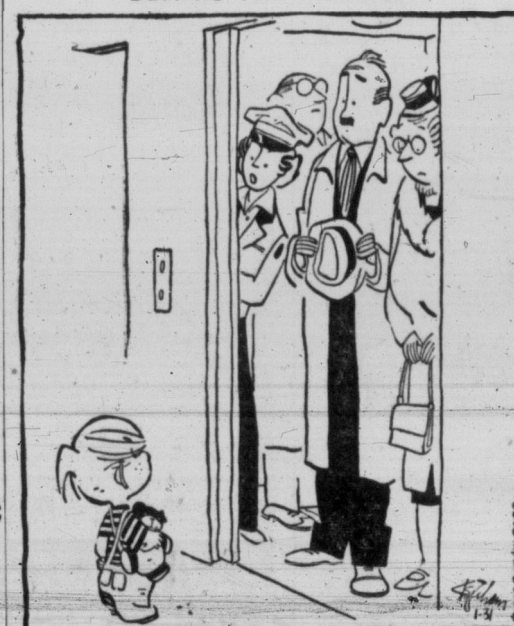

Why has the B.B.C. succumbed to a plan which must only bring doubts, fears, and misgivings to millions of its listeners by permitting broadcasts of such a nature as to undermine faith, hope, and any prospects of a better way of life. I stand amazed, and so must millions of others. Mrs. Knight's little bullet of contempt should never have found its way to the big guns of the B.B.C., but it surely has, and continues to do so! Shocking beyond words, and in a time when the ultimate is required in steady thinking and careful planning by people everywhere.

Is it any wonder there have been storms of protest by so many in the United Kingdom?

Any man or woman, with one drop of red blood in his or her veins will naturally react against such action as the B.B.C. in permitting such subtle material ever leaving their studios.

"PUNCH" and the "Observer" came in the mail this morning. Aunt Mary sends them on to us each week—except when she goes for her summer holiday, and then she always writes an airmail letter of explanation and apology, so we'll not worry.

For Aunt Mary is old and lives with her sister, Julia, in a winding Dorset village.

Aunt Julia is the dominant sister, erect and forceful, full of village interests and activities. She runs the Girl Guides still, and puts on the annual parish play. Invariably, it's a healthy play, for she doesn't think much of "this new-fangled neurotic nonsense." (Always probing into people's minds, my dear, I call it quite disgusting.)

Ruth

She's responsible for the welfare of the villagers, and she takes her responsibilities very seriously.

On the day I saw her last she was worried because a young woman in the village was having a baby—with the confinement at home—and the district nurse hadn't arrived as she had promised. Aunt Julia phoned the nurse four times, standing rather far off from the phone and speaking very loudly. Then, muttering about young professional women who have no real sense of duty, she pulled on her ancient coat, and went herself to see that the woman was alright.

The nurse, who knew the stages of labor to a nicety, arrived in ample time. But if she hadn't, Aunt Julia would have delivered the baby herself.

"Mind you, I was terrified," she wrote to us later, "because never having had a baby myself, I wasn't quite sure. But I'd had done it. One can do anything if one has to."

Good old Aunt Julia. She's a bit of a martinet and gets into some awful quarrels, but she's just as steady as they come. Naturally, she's very fond of dear Mr.

Churchill, and, of course, the Queen. Though, at the beginning, she did watch with interest and some anxiety to see how the Duke of Edinburgh would shape up. And she had no use whatever for the Labor Government. The country was going to the dogs then. Just going to the dogs.

Aunt Mary is the gentle, domesticated one who's taken on the household tasks now that incomes have so dwindled that the two old maids they had for years have been replaced by a slapdash impatient girl who comes in every Thursday morning.

But, faithful to the last and much too old to change, Aunt Mary tries to have things the way they were when Papa was alive. The silver must be bright—all the silver—even the six little egg cups on their circular tray, the dish that holds the dark, bitter marmalade, the heavy napkin rings, the darling little mustard pot.

The cottage—long and low, of daub and wattle—wasn't built to be run without domestic help. Aunt Mary wouldn't change it for the world.

If there's no one else to do it, she herself will carry the tall narrow-necked jugs of hot water up to the guests in the icy bedroom. She'll make their morning coffee, and scrub the brick kitchen floor, and put the marmalade back into the jar after every breakfast and wash its crystal-and-silver dish.

She's over seventy, little and bent and tired and awfully shabby. Because she still wants to give what she always did to the village church.

And, on Sundays, when she comes back from Evensong, she goes to the oak desk in the corner by the window, and with her rheumatically stiff little hands, roughened by domestic toil, she does up the papers for those faraway relatives she's sweet enough to call "dear Lawrence and dear Ruth."

And, somehow, it isn't just "Punch" and "The Observer" in our mail box here in Saanich.

It's like a precious little bit of old Aunt Mary herself.

Child Psychiatry Criticized

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

DR. JOHN CAMPBELL, professor of psychiatry in Atlanta, Ga., speaking recently before the winter meeting of the American Medical Association, maintained that there is much that is wrong in the modern psychiatric theory of child development. He thinks that parental neglect, misunderstanding, rejection, discord in the home, and poor environment are too often blamed for all of the nervous and emotional disorders in children and adults.

Alvarez

Like most lay persons and general practitioners, Dr. Campbell has noted that some of the men and women who came from a very poor and unhappy or broken home can make a remarkable success in life. This shows that the bad home conditions are not all-powerful. Dr. Campbell says so wisely that too little attention is now being paid to the nature of the human stock from which an individual sprang, or to the constitutional make-up of the child.

Today, most psychiatrists won't even listen to a mother when she starts telling about the several queer or alcoholic relatives she or her husband have. She knows that there is poor nervous stock in the tribe, and from sad experience she knows how important this is in producing mental troubles here and there in the family.

Dr. Campbell, who has written the finest book on manic depressive psychosis that I have read, knows how to recognize depressed patients. As he says, if one knows how, one can pick out many children who are already mildly manic-depressive.

In his experience an inherited tendency to depression early in life accounts for most of the cases in which a child is full of abnormal fears. These children suffer great ups and downs in mood, and they have depressions which come without obvious cause. He thinks the child is as much puzzled over his illness as his mother and father.

That a mild depressive psychosis must often appear early in life is shown by the fact that so many depressed adults can tell of childhood "blue spells," feelings of unreality, queer headaches, periods when they felt slowed up and moody and terribly tired, or periods when they felt too lit-up and excited. Many know that they have suffered from these abnormal up-and-down swings of mood ever since they were in grammar school.

As Campbell said, the manic-depressive child is usually well-behaved. He is often over-zealous, worried about the meanings of life, and vaguely conscious that there is something wrong with him. He may be timid and insecure, self-conscious and moody.

Not infrequently the parent and the child are so unable to understand one another that they get into conflicts.

Dr. Campbell truly says that manic-depressive psychosis is the most familial of all psychiatric diseases. Most depressed persons know of moody or definitely depressed relatives. Often in a large family where there is only one insane person, there are some uncles or aunts or brothers or sisters who were moody, or who tended to break down under adversity, or who could not face disappointment, or who had spells of distressing morning fatigue, or who occasionally had a sort of nervous breakdown.

It is a joy to me to find a psychiatrist with the courage and temerity to report on what he has seen; to admit that psychosis is commonly inherited, and to question the Freudian dogmas.

A NEED FOR EXERCISE

In 1953, in England, Dr. J. N. Morris and other scientists, working with the British Medical Research Council, studied the many records that have been kept of the incidence of various illnesses in the several types of workers, and found that coronary heart disease is found earlier in life, more often, and in a more fatal form among men who sit at their work than among those who are on their feet much of the day.

The conclusion is that all of us are likely to be better off for some exercise, perhaps a little walking from the station to the office or to the home. The golfer, the bowler, the hunter and the fisherman may live longer because of their exercise. I know many persons who like to go for a stroll before going to bed.

SYNOPSIS—A Pacific disturbance lying west of Vancouver Island is bringing rain to most of the south coast and snow to much of the southern interior. During the day this disturbance will move slowly eastward and bring snow or mixed snow and rain to the area.

Farmers Plan Pruning Demonstration

COBBLE HILL—Two pruning demonstrations will be given here March 1 by Allan Litter, it was announced at the annual meeting of Shawinigan Cobble Hill Farmers' Institute. The demonstrations will start at 10 a.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Brondson, Telegraph Road, and will continue the same afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilkinson on Wilkinson Road.

Officers elected at the meeting were W. Dunn, president; A. Simpson, vice-president; Miss M. Melrose, acting secretary; treasurer; G. Braithwaite, S. Dougan and S. J. Hill, directors. Plans for improvements and new buildings at the fair grounds were discussed and approved. The annual fair has grown to the point where gate receipts last year were $1,156 and $800 was paid out in prizes.

Another disturbance in the eastern gulf of Alaska is moving towards the north coast. By the time this disturbance reaches south coastal waters only moderate to fresh southeasterly winds will develop in this region. Cloudy mild weather will persist for the next two days in all interior regions.

Gen. Dynamics Climbs to $100

The Toronto market, strong in morning trade, added further gains toward the close.

Industrials led the advance with papers, utilities, construction, refining oils and manufacturers well ahead.

General Dynamics touched $100 and at 2 p.m. was ahead $3.50 to $98.50 after declaration of a 100 per cent stock dividend, plus a cash dividend of $1.10. Aluminum was up $1.50.

Uranium eased in profit-taking but some issues remained well ahead. Algom was up $1.50 and Lorrain $1.00.

Western oils featured American Leduc, Kroy, Liberal and National. Pete well ahead. Scurry touched a 1954-55 high of $2.35, easing later.

Base metals changes were mostly small.

NEW YORK

The New York market pushed to a new 25-year high today with steel and aircrafts in boom demand.

Aircrafts were up 2 to around 6 points, and steel in the neighborhood of 2 points. Many other key stocks were up between 1 and 3 points. There were few losses of note.

Algonquin ended 1/2 while Stelco, Noranda, Price, Powell River and Consolidated Paper were off a fraction.

Consolidated Denison advanced 20 cents and Quebec Chibougamau 11 in a stronger mine section. Calvan was up 15 cents in an otherwise featureless western oils section.

ROSEWALL CAPTURES AUSSIE NET CROWN

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Ken Rosewall won the men's singles championships of this tennis-mad country for the second time in three years today with a 9-7, 6-4, 6-4 victory over Lew Hoad.

Disregarding a jinx that had seen Hoad whip him seven successive times, Rosewall outclassed his tennis "twin" and doubles partner to regain the title he won in 1953. Mervyn Rose captured it last year.

Rosewall had eliminated America's Tony Trabert in the semifinals, and the all-Australian final today assuaged some of the pain inflicted last month when Trabert and Vic Seixas won the Davis Cup away from the Aussies.

Three-Way Playoff In Palm Springs Golf

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Fred Haas Jr., Mike Souchak and Shelley Mayfield ended up in a three-way tie for first place Sunday in the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Golf Tournament.

The trio will compete in an 18-hole playoff today.

Haas, the 38-year-old winner of the event last year, finished with a five under par 67 for a 72-hole total of 270—two more than his 1954 score. The New Orleans pro used two valuable strokes getting out of a trap on the 18th and missed a five-foot putt to end his chance of a clear-cut victory.

Mayfield, 30-year-old ex-Texan now from Chicago, Mass., and broad-shouldered Mike Souchak, former Duke University football star, ended with 69s to force a playoff for the $2,000 top prize.

Johnny Palmer, the leader through the first two rounds, played well, but not well enough, and his final 70 gave him 271, just behind the first three.

Two of the younger threats, Bob Rosburg of San Francisco and Bud Holscher, who had pulled into a tie with Mayfield passing the 63rd hole, faded on the final trip home. Each took a 70 for 272.

Jerry Barber of Los Angeles came in seventh with a 67 for 273, and the 274 bracket listed the pre-tournament favorite, Gene Littler, with a 67; Tommy Bolt, 69; Paul McGuire, 70; Bo Wininger, 72, and Wally Ulrich, 72.

The winning total was 18 strokes under par for the Thunderbird Country Club course—6,876 yards long Sunday with par 36-36—72, and toughened up considerably for the final round.

Vic High to Share Prep Soccer Title

Two equally powerful teams, Victoria High and Britannia, fought a strongly defensive but scoreless inter-high school soccer final at New Westminster Saturday.

Each team will hold the Provincial Senior Cup for six months.

Eddie Osteshek, left-winger for Britannia, almost settled the issue in the first overtime period when his 20-foot kick hit the crossbar and bounded straight to the ground where Tom English quickly booted it out of danger.

It was Vic High's turn in the

Thunderbirds Crush Wanderers; Fox Stars as Vikings Whip Bays

They may have put the wrong English Rugby game on television Saturday.

Oak Bay Wanderers, visitors to UBC stadium got soundly thumped before the CBC cameras, to the tune of 20-0 by the Thunderbirds.

At the same time here in Victoria the surprising Victoria College Vikings paced by Michael Fox put on a convincing display of power to trounce JBAA in a second-division match, 37-6.

Fox accounted for 15 of his club's points on a try, three converts and two penalty goals. Ron Hurley also sparked for the students, converting twice and being a standout at his scrum-half position. Phil Ney got three tries, Harold Robin-

John Sands, Pat Underhill Speed Champs

EDMONTON (IBU)—John Sands of Saskatoon, Sask., and Pat Underhill of Edmonton, captured the Canadian senior men's and women's speed skating championships Sunday after high temperatures turned the ice at the Diamond Park oval into mush.

Sands edged out defending champion Bill Hastings by five points as he capped 105 points in the two-day meet. Sand's winning points came as he placed second in the five-mile marathon.

Kasting, of Edmonton, and Fred Mantesso, Calgary, Alta., tied for second place in the men's finals, with Mickey Zoetz, Edmonton, fourth. Sands won the 440 and one-mile events, placed third in the 880 and three-quarter mile races, and fourth in the two-mile.

Miss Underhill's 130 points were compiled with firsts in the one mile, 440 and 880 and seconds in the 220 and three-quarter mile races. She had 10 points more than defending titlist Mrs. Doreen Ryan, Edmonton. She got her victory margin by beating Mrs. Ryan in the one-mile.

ADELAIDE (Reuters) — England waged a hard fight on a spin bowler's pitch here today to finish 93 runs behind Australia with seven wickets in hand on the third day of the fourth cricket test.

Clark Gets 28 As Orphans Whip Jayvees

Howard Tooby's Victoria Orphans rapped on the doors of higher learning Sunday in Chemainus and came out with top marks.

Prepping for the Island senior A men's playoffs, Orphans downed University of British Columbia Jayvees 65-56 in an exhibition game in Chemainus. The local club trailed 35-30 at the half but won it in the second half.

Johnny Clark of Victoria topped the scorers with 28 points. Ed Pederson of Victoria and Mike Fraser of UBC each scored 14.

Vets Blank Eagles, Take Soccer Lead

Army, Navy, and Air Force Veterans earned first-place in division two of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association by blanking Eagles 2-0 at Windsor Park Sunday.

Lance Rutherford and Gary Leibel scored second-period goals for the winners. Vets who capped first-half league honors now lead second-half league play by two points.

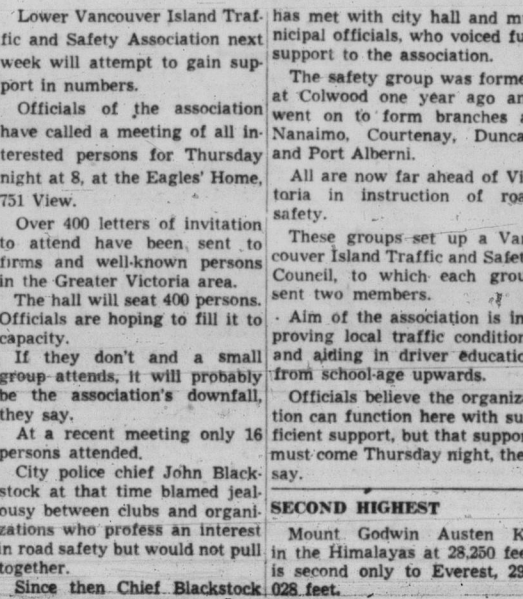

Eagles of division one defeated Belmont Boys Club by default to retain their league lead. A scheduled game by Mic Macs and 5th Regiment was canceled.

Canadian Scottish took first-place in division four play on Saturday by blanking Sidney 4-0, scoring all goals in the first half. Bob Muser scored twice and Jim Peters and Ron Gibson got the others.

In other games Saturday, Eagles, division four, defeated last-place Combines 1-0 on a goal by Daryl McIntyre. Canadian Scottish, division three, stopped Eagles 1-0, on a lone tally by outside right Willie Wong, and division five Combines opened up a four-point lead over first-half champion Eagles by scoring a 3-1 victory over the birdmen.

Paul Stebeck with two goals and Ron Elphick with one sparked the winners. Hal Piton averted the shutout for the losers.

Mademoiselle From Armentieres New TV Star, Courtesy Bob Hope

By WAYNE OLIVER
NEW YORK (AP)—A made-moiselle from Armentieres has gained entry into the American entertainment world on the basis of a television performance that hasn't been aired yet. She's Line Renaud (pronounced leen ruh-no), who will appear on Bob Hope's NBC show Tuesday night in a film made during the comedian's trip overseas in November. (The Hope show is listed by KOMO for 8 p.m. Tuesday.)

Line, short for Jacqueline, is to start a five-week singing engagement Thursday at the Waldorf here as a result of the film brought back by Hope. Miss Renaud really is from Armentieres, having been born there, but she's in New York straight from Paris, where she recently completed an engagement at the Moulin Rouge. But she's no longer mademoiselle. Her husband, Louis Gaste, is a composer of popular songs and accompanies her on the guitar. SHE DIDN'T SAY NO Hope discovered her, if discovered is the right word for spotting a star on French films, TV and radio, when he went to the Moulin Rouge, where she was singing to sell-out crowds. Hope had to do a lot of wangling to get a table.

SMOKE BOMB PANICS PATRONS AT BALLET

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Several theatre-goers panicked Saturday when they mistook a smoke bomb for fire during an afternoon performance of Swan Lake by the National Ballet Company.

They became frightened when a new-type smoke-screen bomb was set off backstage to create a fire-and-brimstone effect in the ballet. The bomb went off with a flash and left a brief odor of smoke.

Several men and women from the first few rows of the Grand Theatre, some dragging small children behind them, ran up the aisles to the entrance doors. Others scrambled down from the balcony.

Ushers controlled the panic by barring the entrance doors and calling out: "Go back to your seats."

For the week at the Grand Theatre the ballet grossed $20,000, a boost of 10 per cent over last year's week run.

NUCLEI VARY RAIN PATTERN

VANCOUVER (CP)—A former University of British Columbia physicist, after years of study, has decided that atomic explosions are changing the world's weather.

Dr. Bohdon Cwiling, in a report mailed from Panama City to Paddy Sherman, a reporter with the Vancouver Province, writes that such changes may be underway already. The report was also mailed to several scientific journals.

Dr. Bohdon Cwiling, 45-year-old scientist and author of three books on weather, left here in 1953 for England, then sailed from there on a seven-year cruise to study magnetism and the weather.

Last fall his boat was wrecked in a hurricane off Panama and he took a post on the physics staff of Panama University while the craft is being rebuilt.

Mr. Sherman quotes the scientist's report as saying that atomic explosions are causing "more rain clouds, more gales, stronger winds, much more rain in normally dry areas."

The uncountable billions of tiny particles caused by the atomic explosions, the report says, are circling the world in the stratosphere acting as artificial nuclei for raindrops.

These nuclei, or cores, without which rain could not occur, work in the same way as dry ice or chemicals to cause rain, the report says.

The report says Dr. Cwiling learned in eight years of investigation that the highest temperature at which ice formed naturally in clouds to cause rain was minus 32 degrees centigrade. Then, he found evidence of it forming at 12 degrees higher—minus 20 degrees.

"Thus," the report says, "a completely new type of atmospheric nuclei has been observed, very numerous and twice as active as any encountered before."

"This type of ice nuclei, if present in the world-wide atmosphere in any significant amount, certainly will change substantially the world's weather pattern. Perhaps it is changing it already."

Dr. Gordon Shrum, head of the University of British Columbia physics department, read the report and said:

"If the observations are correct, there may be something in it. But I am not really qualified to assess his work. He has wide experience in this field and he should know."

Wheat reduction in France reached 386,000,000 bushels in 1954, a gain of 56,000,000 over the previous year.

Lawrence of Arabia Branded 'Fraud' in Book

British Press, Public Aroused

LONDON (BUP)—A new book charging Lawrence of Arabia was a "hoaxer" and a "fraud" who posed as a hero to cover up the fact he was an illegitimate child has touched off a full-blown controversy among the British press and public.

The book, entitled "Lawrence of Arabia," was written by Richard Aldington, 63, a British combat veteran of the First World War. It was released today.

Much of what Lawrence reported about himself, Aldington said, was "heightened, exaggerated, faked, boastful and sometimes without foundation."

What was chiefly remarkable was his capacity for self-advertisement.

Aldington said Lawrence's father was Thomas Robert Chapman, an Anglo-Irish baron who had four daughters, but deserted his wife and ran away with a nurse by whom he had five sons, of whom T. E. Lawrence was the second.

These factors are the clues to Lawrence's "abortive career and tortuous character," Aldington said.

Among those who came to Lawrence's defense was Capt. Basil Liddell Hart, Britain's best-known writer on military affairs. In a scathing review of the book, Hart said Lawrence's illegitimacy "was known to most of Lawrence's circle of friends and the details were fully known by his biographers."

"But they did not consider such indecency as that of laying bare this essentially private matter and presenting it for public discussion while his mother and elder brother, a devout missionary, were still living," Hart said. Lawrence died about 20 years ago.

Hart said that Aldington's treatment of Lawrence is a "prolonged process of smears and sneers."

FRENCH WHEAT
Wheat reduction in France reached 386,000,000 bushels in 1954, a gain of 56,000,000 over the previous year.

Mr. Lewis, a star in overseas radio and television for 20 years, is here to visit his mother, Mrs. E. M. McLellan. He said he was in North America to make a complete survey of TV in preparation for commercial television in Britain, which he believes will be started by October.

Now 45, he first went to England in 1936 after failing to find radio work in Canada. He became known as "England's Major Bowes" because of his talent shows.

For three weeks, he has been in Montreal and New York, negotiating with major networks to film talent shows in "all the big cities outside the Iron Curtain."

Such films, he said, would be sold to TV stations around the world.

Concerning Canadian television, Mr. Lewis said "The CBC is so far behind in ideas it just isn't doing a thing." Most of the shows he has seen on Canadian television have been filmed. He said there seems to be no attempt to find personalities "and that's what counts in TV—it's 25 per cent talent and 75 per cent personality."

Television Star Says CBC Ignores Canadian Talent

VANCOUVER (CP)—Carroll Lewis, portly star of British television, came home to Vancouver with some pungent words for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

"This country is being sadly neglected by its CBC," Mr. Lewis said. "The CBC won't raise a finger to help homegrown talent. Anything Canadian they don't want to know about."

Quebec CCF Members Threaten to Bolt Party

MONTREAL (BUP)—The national CCF party was reported today to be faced with the possibility of losing its Quebec members.

The Quebec socialist leaders were reported up in arms about four specific anti-Quebec and anti-French-speaking Canadian attitudes taken by top CCF members of parliament. One concerned a recent statement in the Commons by Erhart Regier, member for Burnaby-Coquitlam, B.C., that no province in Canada was as ripe for Communism as Quebec.

Return Match

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese fly-weight Yoshio Shirai will have a return match with world champion Pascual Perez of Argentina, May 19 in Tokyo, Shirai's promoter said today. Perez upset Shirai in a title match here Nov. 26.

National party leader M. J. Coldwell, here to address a public meeting Sunday night, refused to comment. It was understood, however, that the question would be raised when former national CCF secretary David Lewis arrives here Tuesday.

Sidney Board Backs Horse Racing Track

Randall Applies for Rezoning to Allow Operation—This Summer of Sandown Oval

A formal application for rezoning of the Sandown track at Sidney has been made by the Randall horse racing interests of Vancouver, it was learned today.

Provincial building inspector for North Saanich, W. R. Cannon, has not yet received word, but Jack Randall of the racing group said from Vancouver the application has been mailed.

The track must be rezoned from its classification as a training track in farm area to that of a commercial undertaking.

The racing group plans a $100,000 investment in the track to bring racing there next summer.

Once the application is received, a public hearing will be held and the decision on what steps to take will go before the zoning board of appeal for North Saanich.

Meanwhile, Sidney village commissioners have thrown their weight behind track establishment.

Chairman Herbert Bradley said the commission has notified Mr. Randall of the decision.

"The commission is determined to encourage any industry or development in the district which will help Sidney's growth," he said.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Don't look now, but Mother Nature has pulled another blooper.

Mother Nature, whose allegedly miraculous activities are hailed in song and story, once more has proved she's actually a bit thick between the ears.

Mother Nature is ripening (if that's the word) the daffodil crop too soon.

This is just one more proof that Mother Nature is highly over-rated. You'd think she'd have enough sense to hold back the daffs until Easter time, when the big money markets of Ontario and Quebec are willing to shell out on a large scale.

But no. Mother Nature gaily waves her wand, the daffodils burst into bloom, and the growers burst into tears.

It is about time we ceased our blind adoration for Mother Nature, and exposed her for what she is—an irresponsible creature with no sense of timing.

This mistiming of Mother Nature's has cured me of gardening.

Once there was a time when I was a great one for having a bit of a garden, for the green stuff, you know.

I am especially fond of new green peas, and would eat them all day long, where it not for the price.

Have you priced new green peas lately?

Then you know what I mean.

So, in years past, at this season I would begin to plan a garden, with lots of space for green peas, and a little later on, I would plant the garden, with lots and lots of green peas.

And while I waited for the green peas to grow, I would stare hungrily at the imported green peas in the store, and think of how much money I would save when MY green peas ripened.

But you can guess what happens. The day before my green peas are ready to pick, green peas in the store are approximately $1 a pound.

The day MY green peas ripen, green peas in the store are two pounds for 5 cents, nothing down and two months to pay.

Thus I cannot enjoy my green peas for thinking of the money I have not saved because my green peas didn't ripen when the store green peas were $1 a pound.

And this unhappiness is caused by Mother Nature's mistiming.

Why doesn't Mother Nature ripen garden produce at times when garden produce is expensive instead of at times when garden produce is cheap.

Until Mother Nature sees the error of her timing, there won't be any green peas grown in MY garden.

Increased City Assessments Said Unscientific by 3 Victoria Firms

By PETE LOUDON

Increased city assessments are not based on scientific valuation but on unproven factors according to three Victoria firms which will be represented at a provincial Court of Revision Tuesday.

Legal representatives of B.C. Forest Products, Crowe, Gonnason Company Ltd. and Victoria Press Ltd., will appear before the court prepared to fight the increases on technical grounds. Others are expected to take the same stand.

But by far the majority of local firms and individual property holders will argue simply that the new assessments indicate higher and unjustified taxation.

Vancouver offices of B.C. Forest Products are the scene of a top executive meeting today to iron out final details on its submissions to the court.

An assessments expert for one of the larger firms stated that appeal will be against provincial equalization of assessments commission basis for increases.

The commission had set 60 per cent of 1953 building costs as the base from which the new index of taxation was to be built.

ILLEGAL MOVE

The official pointed out that according to the Municipal Act, a civic assessor swears to value a taxpayer's property to the best of his knowledge and ability. He believes any effort by the provincial government to usurp this power and set up values for the assessor, is illegal. Crowe Gonnason and Victoria Press will take the same tack in court.

But most city firms and individuals included in the 90 Victoria and 240 district appellants will state objections as a matter of principle.

One of these is Woodwards Stores Ltd. Woodward's manager, Courtney Haddock, told The Times that he and Col. Russell Kerr will appear before the court.

"We weren't told what the mill rate would be. We can't get any guarantee that it will be reduced. The last time it was increased, almost 100 per cent two years ago, our taxes went up. We had to file appeal to get a hearing," he said.

March 5 Set For Esquimalt By-Election

If an election is required to fill the seat on Esquimalt council left by resignation of G. R. Guillemaud, it will be held March 5, J. Reeve A. C. Wurtele said today.

Alternatives to an election are filling the seat by acclamation or appointment of an individual by council.

Council hopes, said the reverend, that an election may be avoided at this time of year. Clr. Guillemaud will submit his formal resignation to council tonight, where it will be accepted.

Members have no alternative but to accept the submission, since Mr. Guillemaud is no longer eligible for municipal office, having sold his property in Esquimalt.

16 B.C. Girls Start Training At City Hospital

Eight Victoria girls and eight from other sections of the province started a three-year training course on Saturday at St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing.

They are: Misses Donna Crooks, Maureen Deacon, Joan Kelter, Peggy Lou Marshall, Ann Moore, Beverly Morrison, Claire McGoran and Heather Rumby, all of Victoria.

Miss Maureen Boylan, Nanaimo; Misses Sharon Burton and Eleanor Ward, Cranbrook; Miss Anita Chouinard, Youbou; Miss Patsy Letcher, Fernie.

Miss Patricia Marquis, Nelson; Miss Marguerite O'Donnell, Fulford Harbor; and Miss Sheila O'Neil, Kelowna.

Sidney Man Pleads Guilty To Breaking, Entry Charges

A Sidney man charged with breaking and entering and theft from Atlas Theatre, 836 Yates Street, in 1952 and with recent theft of an outboard motor on Discovery Island pleaded guilty to both charges today in city police court.

John Martin Howitt, 122 Beacon Avenue, Sidney, was remanded to Feb. 7 for sentence on both charges.

He pleaded guilty Friday in Oak Bay court to a charge of breaking and entering and theft from Royal Victoria Yacht Club,

Under the new system, valuation of property was reduced and improvements vastly increased in most cases. But assessors pointed out that the act was merely meant to put assessments on an equal footing throughout the province for more equal sharing of school costs.

LOWER TAXES?

If costs to run the city are no greater this year, and there are no indications they will be, and if the apportionment of school costs to municipalities is smaller as Premier Bennett says it will be, then Victoria's mill rate stands to be greatly reduced.

Best-informed authorities are betting taxes will be lower.

That is more of a certainty where property is held without improvements. Because there the assessment has been reduced in most cases and even if the mill rate remained the same, taxes would be less.

A leading city department store, for instance, which holds 17 high-priced lots which at present have low value or no improvements, stands to have taxes reduced considerably even with the same mill rate. Others of the firm's properties would have reductions in taxes of $106, $110, $42 and $46, to quote a few, if the mill rate were not reduced.

One firm, which built a $20,000 addition last year, will have the same taxes to pay on the new assessment, with all things being equal.

WON'T APPEAL

It is estimated that many of the appellants will not even appear before the court of revision to press their case, feeling that the notice of appeal is the necessary gesture.

Appeals will be heard by three government-appointed referees, Forrest L. Shaw, chairman; Saanich Reeve Joseph Casey and W. L. Woodhouse, former Oak Bay Reeve.

They will sit in City Hall council chamber Tuesday, in Oak Bay February 7, and in Saanich February 14. Date and place for Esquimalt and View Royal appeals is to be announced.

Saanich council will meet tonight at 8 p.m. to start negotiating a wage agreement with members of the Saanich fire department. Firemen are asking an 8 per cent wage increase across the board.

Council at 9 p.m. will also start negotiating a wage agreement with members of the Saanich fire department. Firemen are asking an 8 per cent wage increase across the board.

First night sitting of the B.C. Legislature this session is scheduled for tonight.

P. A. Gibbs (Lib., Oak Bay), F. X. Richter (SC, Similkameen) and Vincent Segur (CCF, Revelstoke) will speak at the night sitting, which starts at 8 o'clock.

Tuesday, scheduled speakers are: Herbert Bruch (SC, Esquimalt), Anthony Garrahy (CCF, MacKenzie), Bruce Brown (Lib., Prince George), Rae Eddie (CCF, New Westminster) and William Moore (CCF, Comox).

$400 Theft at Furniture Plant

BILL BACK TO DO BETTER MAYBE

Due credit to a substitute weatherman from Vancouver was given this morning by Bill Mackie, officer in charge of the weather office here, who has just returned from an official conference in Toronto.

"I hear he did a good job," said Mr. Mackie, "and was careful not to bring too much mainland mist."

"However, he appears to have left a slight legacy of moisture when he returned. We will try to correct this state of affairs as soon as possible."

But Mr. Mackie still forecasts "cloudy, cooler showers."

Well-Planned Burglary

A well-planned burglary netted thieves nearly $400 of electrical equipment from Modern Metal Furniture Co. Ltd. metal plant, 926 Fort, in one of two weekend break-ins.

Youthful culprits are blamed for theft of several Viewmaster picture reels and some Scotch tape from Oaklands School, Ryan Street, in the second burglary.

Missing from the metal plant is one 200-pound electric welder valued at $250, one drill worth $48 and a $90 electric screw gun.

Entry to the building was made by forcing a plywood square in a rear window and reaching inside to release a catch.

Police said the culprits first removed fuses from the power box and also shut off the main power switch upon entry.

Stolen articles were removed through a rear door.

HOLE IN FENCE

On leaving the premises the burglars carried the loot to a corner of Empress Motors Ltd. parking lot and cut a large hole in a wire fence allowing them access to an open parking lot.

It is believed the thieves had transportation waiting for them at the open parking lot.

In removing the welder, they cut three large cables attached to the machine. Three electric cables joined to another welder were also sliced.

Entrance to the school was gained by forcing a wooden door on a coal chute and crawling in.

Fire-Damaged Chilean Ship Arrives Here

Fire at sea off the coast of Chile brought the Valparaiso freighter Amadeo into Esquimalt harbor today.

The fire occurred in number three hold, early in January, and was successfully fought by the ship's crew.

Action of heat and water on the steel plates of the 'twelve decks crystallized the steel, and extensive repairs are necessary. Amadeo's owners ordered the ship to Victoria, and the ship was docked this morning in government graving dock by Yarrow's Ltd.

Lloyd's surveyors went aboard to ascertain extent of damage, and to issue orders for needed repairs. Preliminary estimates indicate Amadeo will be drydocked for at least 10 or 12 days.

While in dock, she will have bottom plates scraped and painted.

Ship's officers report the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion in the cargo, consisting of cotton and rice. A fire party poured water into the hold, first preventing the fire from spreading, and then quelling it.

Amadeo is in the North America-South America trade on the Pacific Coast, but does not usually call at Victoria. When repairs are completed, she will shift to Vancouver to take on mixed cargo for the return voyage south. Victoria agent is King Bros. Ltd.

HOUSE SPEAKERS

First night sitting of the B.C. Legislature this session is scheduled for tonight.

P. A. Gibbs (Lib., Oak Bay), F. X. Richter (SC, Similkameen) and Vincent Segur (CCF, Revelstoke) will speak at the night sitting, which starts at 8 o'clock.

Tuesday, scheduled speakers are: Herbert Bruch (SC, Esquimalt), Anthony Garrahy (CCF, MacKenzie), Bruce Brown (Lib., Prince George), Rae Eddie (CCF, New Westminster) and William Moore (CCF, Comox).

Arrest Made In Highway Hit-and-Run

Pedestrian Hit Near Colwood

Colwood RCMP said today an arrest has been made in one of two week-end hit-and-run accidents.

A suspect was taken into custody after an early morning accident today which sent Charles Norman Smithurst, 36, 2913 Richmond Road, to hospital with head injuries and a possible broken leg.

RCMP said Smithurst was struck by a car while walking on the Island Highway, near Colwood, shortly after midnight.

He was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

SECOND ACCIDENT

The other hit-and-run accident occurred Saturday when James Mair, 9, of 120 St. Andrews, suffered an injured right ankle when struck by an auto while crossing Blanshard Street at Yates.

He was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital and allowed to go home.

Only description of the car given was that it was a late-model and was driven by a man.

SIX INJURED

Six other persons, one a pedestrian and one a cyclist, were taken to hospital as the result of other accidents.

Basil Roney, 64, 1130 View, received minor injuries when in collision with a car Sunday night at 7:25 p.m. at Fort and Blanshard.

Police said Roney was crossing Blanshard in a pedestrian crosswalk when hit.

Tom McConnell, 16, 4256 Dieppe Road, Saanich, was "doing very nicely" today in hospital after suffering a concussion and minor injuries Saturday afternoon when he fell to MacKenzie Avenue after the front wheel of his bicycle collapsed.

Charles Forbes and Loy Huff, both of 127 Menzies, also were in fair condition today after being admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital Saturday afternoon.

They were involved in a truck-car collision on Sooke Road near Happy Valley intersection.

Others treated for minor hurts received in accidents were Edwin S. Young, 30, 850 Admirals Road, and Helen Pettigrew, 23, 3419 Seymour. Both were released after examination.

Gregory to Press For New City Court House

Victoria's Liberal member of the Legislature, George Gregory, gave notice today that he will press for a new court house for the capital city.

Mr. Gregory is seeking from Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi answers to when the present court house was built, how many plans and sketches for a new one have been prepared in the last 25 years, and how many other buildings are used to store records which could be kept in the court house if there was enough room.

The member said the packed, cramped condition of the old building was "shocking." He said half the land registry records are stored in another building "miles away" and that files are stacked in corridors of the court house itself and the land registry office is "filled to the brim."

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Will you please tell me where Victoria gets her weather forecasts? H.P.S.

A. From the meteorological office in Vancouver, situated at that city's airport, where the necessary staff is maintained and from where the forecasting for all the territory this side of the Rocky Mountains is done. Communicated to Victoria, the forecasts are amended or added to at the Gonzales Observatory in line with the weather in this region.

Q. I. How old is the observance of Thanksgiving Day in this province? 2. When was the old Cary Castle destroyed? P.H.M.

A. The first Thanksgiving Day was observed by the people of B.C. Nov. 22, 1877. 2. Cary Castle was the residence of the successive Lieutenant-governors of B.C. up to 1906, when it was destroyed by fire.

DROODLES

"Strike It Rich" is my favorite TV Program. It's so good I've been trying to figure out how to swipe the idea for a show of my own. I have one brilliant format called "Strike It Poor." It will feature millionaires who want to lose money to get in a lower tax bracket. Every time they answer a question correctly they're allowed to give me $500. The Networks have been too short-sighted to snap this up so I'm working on another idea. It's called: "What's Your Name?" Contestants are picked from the audience and each one is given a quart of gin. Then they try to figure out who they are. They may not win much money but they should be the happiest contestants on TV.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Perhaps It's Frivolous
But It'd Make a Fine Gift

By PENNY SAVER

In my scheme of everyday goings on, I have a little corner marked "Let's Be Frivolous!" Well, as I walked through a certain little shop today I saw something that appealed especially to this little corner of mine. Here was a tiny tape measure, about one inch square, in a black taffeta casing . . . all covered in petit-point. A shaded red rose on the top tempted me to buy this little gem, and my sales resistance being what it is . . . I bought. It wasn't expensive either . . . 95 cents! It would make a cute gift, too.

Oh, I know I'll keep myself broke, but I'll bet that if you roam into that little store you'll end up with one too . . . or something just as eye-catching!

Since I had already succumbed to the charm of the frivolous thing, when I saw these adorable dolls I was completely gone. Welsh, Dutch, Scottish, Irish and Swedish were the nationalities in front of me. They are no more than two inches high, and there is a little girl and a little boy . . . both for 79 cents.

They're all dressed in native costumes that are made of various colors of felt. Imagine! So small, yet so complete in detail that I was really surprised at the price. For that friend of yours who collects dolls, or for yourself for that matter, these are inexpensive yet well made.

For you who always need a pencil and never have one, here's just the thing. A metal-covered pencil on a thin, thin chain is attached to a shiny plaid button, and . . . yes, you guessed it . . . when you let go of the pencil it automatically sails back to the button, the chain coiling up inside. You can pin it to your lapel or even to your collar if it's sturdy enough. It's a real piece of jewelry, and it's so attractive! Oh . . . I almost forgot, it costs $1.75!

Carrie across some pert little gloves today, too. They are short, short, and all around the edges of the fingers and cuffs is red stitching. Only 98 cents . . . at the price you buy a couple of pair!

As you've probably noticed, I am very fond of belts . . . and for good reason. I think they are a most important accessory . . . and too often given no credit in the over-all smart appearance. A nicely matching or contrasting belt will set off to advantage even the plainest skirt. I saw one today that is just waiting for some clothes-conscious girl to buy it. It has three large medallions in front, the rest of the belt being made of large silver links . . . only $1.10.

Hurry along . . . it really is an inexpensive and good-looking accessory.

WHY GROW OLD?

Don't Be Self-Conscious;
Find a Chance to Serve

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is a stimulating and also a frustrating thought to realize that we meet opportunity in some form every day in every week! If it is not stimulating or frustrating it is at least tantalizing!

Of course we encounter opportunities for self-sabotage, and even for self-destruction, for deterioration and unhappiness, but we also have opportunities every single day, smiling on our doorsteps, for happiness and rich living. Few of us would have much trouble if we could recognize vibrant opportunity when it knocks.

The opportunity for service is always with us, and service or being needed, is one of the most important fundamentals upon which human happiness depends. It appeals to us from every doorstep, it peeps at us from every corner, and it exists in every human relationship, from the most exalted ones to the person we bump into on a crowded street.

Yet what happens to many people? They are so bound by their own problems, by their own feelings of inferiority, that they somehow miss the opportunities for happiness.

Why? Well, sometimes it is simply a question of a lowered state of health, of boredom which has settled down along with a daily routine which has no variety at all because of self-consciousness due to physical defects.

Get rid of whatever is making you feel self-conscious because so long as you feel this way you cannot enjoy living or contribute to it as you would have done.

Are you worrying about how you look or what others are thinking about you? If so, stop it and remember that most of the people you meet are worrying about the same things, no matter how big a front they put up, the bigger the front the more insecure they probably are.

You have only one life to live on this orb. Enjoy it! Do not allow your natural enjoyment to be damaged by feelings of self-consciousness. If there are physical defects which are damaging you, get rid of them.

If you would like to have my leaflet "How to Overcome Loneliness and Self-Consciousness," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 53 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

To clean playing cards, apply spirits of camphor lightly with cotton, then wipe off and polish.

Premier Declares Women's Vote Holds Top Place on Election Day

Election of officers to the provincial board, held at Saturday's meeting of presidents of Women's Auxiliaries of the Social Credit League resulted as follows: Left to right, Mrs. I. Roberts, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. S. Haverstock, first vice-president; Mrs. F. Greysty, president; Mrs. W. A. Bennett, honorary president, and Mrs. V. Pipes, second vice-president.

The power of the women's vote was extolled by Premier W. A. C. Bennett in a short address at a reception in the Georgian Room at the Empress Hotel last Saturday evening. The occasion was the opening of a week-end convention of presidents of the woman's auxiliaries of the Social Credit League.

Premier Bennett gave much of the credit for his own successful election campaign to the efficient organization work of Social Credit women. He urged them to keep on the work of organization.

Mrs. Lydia Arsene, MLA, acted as official hostess and introduced Premier Bennett, cabinet ministers and members of the Legislature who were present. Piano selections were given by Arla Smalley during a social hour that followed.

Daffodils and pussy willows centred the refreshment table, flanked by pale green candles. Mrs. Claude Harrison and Mrs. E. Harris presided at the urns. Receiving guests were Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, Mrs. P. A. Gagliardi, Mrs. Ralph Chetwynd, Mrs. Lyle Wicks, Mrs. Wesley Black, Mrs. Thomas Irwin, Mrs. R. E. Sommers, Mrs. Kenneth Kiernan, Mrs. Ray Williston, Mrs. Herbert Bruch, Mrs. John Tisdale, Mrs. W. N. Chant, Mrs. Frank Richter, Mrs. Cyril Sheldford, Mrs. Hugh Shantz and Mrs. George Tomlinson.

Change Subject to Fend Off Family Arguments

By ELIZABETH HURLOCK, PhD

Nothing makes a home more unpleasant than constant arguments. No matter what the cost, such arguments are worth avoiding. A wife writes:

(Q) "We have been married for 32 years. My husband has always been faithful and a very good worker, but he is argumentative. Even if I agree with him, he manages to find something wrong. He has a mean and unpleasant disposition. I want to be pleasant with him and keep the conversation pleasant but it just cannot be done. If he talks to me, I reply in a pleasant way. Otherwise, I have given up trying to make conversation. Any idea I have isn't any good, according to him. He enjoys making me uncomfortable and he likes to have fun at my expense. Have you any advice on how to handle him? I realize now that I should have started him? Do you think that by not talking to him except when he talks to me might help?"

(A) I agree with you that you should have started to do something about this problem 32 years ago, or even before you were married, if he acted then as he does now. But it is too late to turn back the clock.

I question very much whether the silent treatment would help. In fact, it is likely to make matters worse. Your husband will sense, even though you say nothing, that you are annoyed. This will irritate him and incite him to further disagreeable comments.

Try to keep the conversation moving smoothly by talking about impersonal matters—your friends and neighbors, what is going on in the community, etc. Don't get on any controversial subjects if you can avoid it.

And, if he disagrees with you, pass it off lightly by such comments as, "Perhaps you are right." Then quickly change the subject before an argument starts. It takes two to make an argument.

As for his making you uncomfortable by making fun of you, ignore this too. If he sees he cannot annoy you, it will no longer be fun for him to try to hurt your feelings. No matter how you feel about the matter, don't let him know.

KIND OF RELIEF

of colds

Here's a cough syrup that does more than just relieve coughs of colds. It works with a "relief action" all its own—and doesn't upset stomach or appetite.

Vicks Medi-Trating Cough Syrup is different—a combination of a new penetrating ingredient with a medicating formula. The penetrating ingredient carries the medicine to irritated crevices of the throat, where the medicating ingredient can go right to work. That's why it's named Vicks Medi-Trating Cough Syrup. It medicates as it penetrates. Everybody likes the flavor! Try new Vicks Medi-Trating Cough Syrup.

Choir Holds Annual Dinner Meeting and Party

Annual meeting of First United Church choir took place at the Golden Slipper, when 80 members and friends sat down to a turkey dinner. At the guest table were Mr. and Mrs. Moir A. J. Waters, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnston, Dr. and Mrs. Murray Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Roberto Wood, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dawson.

After dinner, Mr. Dawson read his president's report. The minutes of the last annual meeting and the financial statement were read by Miss Shirley Main, the treasurer. Chairman of the nominating committee, Peter McKechnie read his report and the following were elected for the year 1955: Honorary president, Dr. Murray Anderson; president, Mrs. Ola Brumwell; first vice-president, Bud Buchanan; second, Mrs. Eileen Sheard; secretary, Miss Marlene Vance; treasurer, Barry Wharfe, auditor, S. Frame; social convener, Miss May Brown; music, John Jervis; robes, Mrs. Thompson; sick visiting, Mrs. H. Wilkinson; section captains; soprano, Mrs. Dobson; contralto, Merna Jenkin; tenor, W. Woodward; bass, Jim Buchanan; publicity, Charlotte Crawford. At conclusion of the meeting games and square dancing were enjoyed under direction of Miss Anne Ballentyne.

Who doesn't love the shirt-waist dress? It's the ultimate in understatement in silk surah with coin dots. Long cuffed sleeves and white calfskin belt complete the look that is a classic for any age.

Weaving Expert Believes Her Craft Challenges Interest of Both Sexes

By DICK FREEMAN

Weaving is recognized not only as a useful handicraft but as a fascinating art. It is also a deeply absorbing and challenging hobby. Hand-weaving, especially in an engrossing pastime which encourages relaxation, eliminates boredom and knocks worry into a tailspin.

And it is not a craft that interests only women... men are intrigued by it, too.

I discovered this in an entertaining talk with Mrs. Helen Ellis at her home in its garden setting on Marchants Road, as she was preparing to leave Brentwood Bay to institute her annual weaving courses on the University of British Columbia campus in Vancouver.

For several years now, Mrs. Ellis has held the post of weaving instructor at the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training Centre, where boys and girls from the more remote areas of the province, are taught the basic needs of rural life. She is also chief instructor of University Extension classes at UBC.

Mrs. Ellis is a very energetic woman, always on the go, but she would sit down at the drop of a hat to discuss the craft which has been her life-long interest. She is a daughter of the late Dr. W. Leslie and Mrs. Clay of Victoria.

Mrs. Helen Ellis... her nimble fingers create many new designs.

MEN ARE INTERESTED

"Weaving is as much an art as a craft and it opens up unlimited possibilities for the artistically inclined woman," she says. "Interest is notably on the increase in the present revival of the weaving craft. And, surprisingly perhaps, men are becoming more interested in weaving as a hobby. For complete relaxation it is a pastime of distinctive appeal."

When Mrs. Ellis is not engaged in teaching the rudiments of the craft to university extension classes she is invariably to be found at home seated at her prized loom in her semi-detached studio, designing masterpieces in the weaving art. Many of the beautiful articles she has woven have been exhibited at important handicraft displays throughout British Columbia.

HAPPY AT HER LOOM

She readily admits that she would sooner weave than do housework, although she is a model housekeeper. "Give me my loom and I am quite happy," she says. "I never tire of it."

She attributes her interest in weaving to her mother-in-law, Mrs. Adelaide Ellis, an expert hand weaver, who taught her the craft and wisely advised her in continuing to follow it. She started weaving in 1923.

Training plan for rural youth at the UBC is the brain-child of Dr. Gordon Schrum, head of the UBC extension department, Mrs. Ellis explains.

Boys and girls of all ages, from all sections of B.C. and beyond, are housed in the youth training centre on Acadia Road and attend classes in all phases of rural and agricultural life.

The girls take such subjects as home nursing, sewing, cooking, first aid, dramatics, ceramics, leather work and party planning. The weaving course this year is a selective course.

The government knows that if people are to be encouraged to settle on the land in isolated areas they must be contented.

CONTENTED WOMEN

The development of weaving, Mrs. Ellis says, has resulted in more contentment among women in the great farming districts and with the knowledge that their wives are happier, the farmers naturally have more incentive for the harder work on the farm.

Largest group taking this year's rural training courses are from the Peace River district in northern B.C. They are flown to Vancouver at practically no expense to themselves.

Only those recommended by responsible sponsors in their respective districts are entitled to the advantages offered.

The boys, in addition to all the essential agricultural subjects, take courses in carpentry, motor mechanics, blacksmithing and other trades. Allan DesChamps is the agricultural director in the university extension department.

At the youth training centre, Mrs. Ellis carries the title of "Dean of Women" and, apart altogether from her teaching duties, takes on the unofficial role of house-mother to the girls.

Keating-Bull Wedding Vows Exchanged in Bride's Home

At a quiet ceremony in the bride's Collinson Street home, Doreen Esther Bull exchanged wedding vows with Victor James Keating, B.A., Rev. E. M. Smiley officiated. The bride, who is a well-known young Victoria dancer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bull, 1041 Bay Street, and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Keating, 1350 Hillside Avenue.

The petite dark-haired bride was charming in an ice blue brocaded satin gown of cocktail length. It featured three-quarter length sleeves and tiny buttons from the Peter Pan collar to the waistline. The full billowing skirt fell into graceful folds.

A coronet of white flowers rested in her hair and she carried a white Bible topped with white orchids and streamers knotted with white hyacinths.

As attendant, Miss Lucy Tomczyk chose a cocktail-length frock of beige bengaline, styled on princess lines with Peter Pan collar and short sleeves.

Her head-dress was a white feather-bandeau, and tallman roses formed her colonial bouquet.

Misses Carol Parsons and Darlene Spicer, young nieces of the groom, were flower girls. They wore frocks of blue nylon with pink bows in their hair, and carried pink colonial bouquets.

Best man was Mr. Michael Pretty.

A reception followed at Kings Road Hall, where spring flowers formed the setting. Guests were welcomed by the bride's mother, who wore a navy-blue dress-trimmed with white, navy blue accessories, and white carnation corsage, and the groom's mother, wearing a navy blue ensemble with pink accessories and pink carnation corsage.

The three-tier wedding cake, topped with a bride doll, centred a table covered with a hand-crocheted cloth, with white candles and vases of spring flowers on either side. Mr. Ernest Drummond proposed the bridal toast.

The newlyweds will make their home at Qualicum, V.I., following a honeymoon on Island. Mrs. Keating traveled in a navy blue suit with matching accessories, light grey topcoat, and an orchid corsage.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. M. Ashton, New Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. C. Bain, Cobble Hill; Mr. and Mrs. O. Linell, Sooke; Mrs. R. John, Miss Norma John, Sidney; Mrs. G. Gillespie, Spring Island; Mrs. E. Mathison and Mrs. J. Crouch, Vancouver.

Institute Lunch—To mark the 31st anniversary of Happy Valley Women's Institute, a pot luck lunch was served at the home of Mrs. A. Mills, President, Mrs. P. Bing, presided and was presented with a corsage of daffodils. A birthday cake in green and yellow was cut.

Mrs. D. Flanagan was in charge of table decorations, which included pink primroses, snowdrops, white carnations and green and yellow candles in brass scones. Following the luncheon Mrs. E. Middleton gave a resume of activities of the group. Mrs. M. Hutchison, who attended the first meeting, spoke briefly. Three charter members were present, Mrs. A. Hankin, Mrs. H. Baxter and Mrs. Hutchison.

Best man was Mr. Michael Pretty.

Replica of Camera for Gifts

Bride-elect Mary Borge was honored recently at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. M. Roth and Miss A. Harrison at the Belmont Avenue home of the former. The guest of honor was presented with a corsage of white beehive orchids. The bride-elect's chair was trimmed with white and blue, and the gift container was in the form of a camera with flash attachment, in compliment to both the bride-elect and groom-elect, whose hobby is photography. Guests included Mrs. D. Thomson, Mrs. F. Adams, Mrs. E. Dignan, Mrs. E. Slater, Mrs. D. Allan, Mrs. M. Byron, Mrs. J. McQuillan, Mrs. C. Roth, Misses Diane McNeil, Shirley McNeil, Esther Gorge and Mabel McQuillan.

Dinner Party for Bride-Elect

An aura of blue and white enveloped the dinner party given in honor of popular February bride-elect, Miss Lynne Balam recently at the home of Miss Maureen Bray, 1354 Beach Drive. Blue candles in crystal holders flanked the blue and white carnation centerpiece. A shower cake bearing words of good wishes was decorated in soft tones of blue and white. Present were Mrs. Doug Anderson, Misses Sandra Humber, Trudy Humber, Leslie Humber, Jane Humber and Judy Humber.

Reception Follows Concert

Members of the women's committee of the Victoria Symphony Society have issued invitations to a reception to follow the concert in the Royal Theatre, next Monday evening. The reception will be held at the home of Mrs. F. D. Mara, 820 Pemberton Road.

Gifts for Eileen Hunt

Mrs. A. Hunt and Mrs. M. Finchfield were co-hostesses at the Stannard Street home of the latter at a miscellaneous shower given in honor of February bride-elect Eileen Hunt, whose marriage to Graham Benson Haines will take place Feb. 5. Miss Hunt was presented with a corsage of pink carnations and mauve heather, and her mother, Mrs. S. Hunt, one of white carnations with heather. Guests were Mrs. Jack Gillespie, Mrs. A. Beatty, Mrs. R. Moyer, Mrs. B. Hunt, Mrs. R. Sparks, Mrs. N. McKay, Mrs. S. Cox, Mrs. F. Flydel, Mrs. L. Hall, Mrs. K. Sench and Miss J. Griffin.

Among Wedding Guests

Out-of-town guests at the McLeod-Koski wedding on Saturday evening included the bride's mother and brother, Mrs. Thelma Koski and Mr. Wayne Koski; Mrs. George Graham, Mr. Warren Graham, Mr. Johnny Wong, all of Vernon, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McLeod, parents of the groom; Mrs. Florence McLeod, Miss Barbara Cochrane, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. W. McLeod, Ladysmith, and Mr. and Mrs. S. Dyde, Nanaimo.

Tea for New Members

Officers and executive members of the University Women's Club of Victoria entertained on Saturday afternoon at a tea party honoring new members who have joined the club this year. The affair was held at the home of Miss Ellen Hart on Laurel Lane. The large drawing room was attractively decorated on a Valentine theme centred around a collection of old-fashioned Valentine cards which Miss Hart displayed on the mantel, and the serving buffet was arranged with red and white tulips in a silver bowl and red candles in silver holders. Mrs. A. J. Butterfield, president, poured tea and Mrs. M. F. Smith introduced members informally. Among the new members attending were Mrs. P. L. Ward, Mrs. Peter Coombs, Mrs. J. H. Ford, Mrs. H. J. McLeod, Mrs. Hugh Lytleton, Mrs. C. H. Little, Mrs. P. L. Underwood, Mrs. R. A. Grosskurth, Mrs. D. N. Cox, Mrs. E. Dalman and Miss Marilyn Berry. Mrs. J. L. Andrews, social convener was in charge of arrangements and was assisted in serving by Mrs. Smith, Miss N. I. Grigg, Mrs. J. Gouge, Mrs. H. R. Turner, Mrs. A. H. Hall and Mrs. Olga Bowes. Other guests included Mrs. T. B. Williams, past-president of the club, and study group conveners, Mrs. W. B. Gordon, Mrs. H. S. Clark, Mrs. E. N. Flanagan, Mrs. R. G. Phillips and Mrs. A. A. C. Harris.

Toronto Visitor

Mrs. Fred S. Nation arrived by plane on Sunday morning from Toronto for a month's visit here. She will be the guest of her brothers-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Larssen and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miles during her stay in the city. Mrs. Nation is the former Miss Mabel Scaplen of Victoria.

HONOR GUARD ATTENDS

Heather 'For Luck' in Decorations Used at McLeod-Koski Wedding

Masses of white chrysanthemums, heather and fern formed a background for the full military wedding in St. John's Anglican Church Saturday evening, when Canon George Biddle heard the vows of Janet Wilma Koski and Cpl. Terrence Neil McLeod, Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) Regiment.

Frederick Chubb played traditional organ music. Guard of honor from the groom's regiment included Sgt.-Maj. Ted Rogers, Sgt. Bruce Paxton, Pte. D. Doidge, Pte. Barry Cave, Cpl. Roy Lewis, Cpl. Charles Mitchell, Cpl. Ted Dobermaster, Cpl. Charles Caze, Cpl. C. Schmitz, Sgt. D. Robertson and L.-Cpl. D. McGregor.

The newlyweds were piped from the church by Pipers David Law and Bill Mossie.

Ushers, Sgt. Patrick Barber, Pte. Gary Johnston and Mr. Wayne Koski, brother of the bride, showed guests to pews marked with clusters of white heather.

The bride, daughter of Mrs.

Thelma Koski of Vernon, B.C., was given in marriage by Mr. William Murray of Victoria. She formed a charming picture in her ankle-length gown of fine white lace over French pleated net and bridal satin. Over the strapless bodice she wore a lace jacket with high collar and jilly-point sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil fell softly from a coronet of rhinestones and pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, white feathered carnations and heather.

Miss Marlene Koski, maid of honor for her sister, chose an ankle-length gown of salmon pink net over satin with a short-sleeved jacket topping the strapless bodice.

A similar gown in blue was worn by Miss Catherine Murray, bridesmaid. They wore wreaths of pink carnations and mauve heather in their hair to match the flowers in their colonial bouquets.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McLeod of Vancouver, had Cpl. H. W. Johnston of the Canadian Scottish Regiment as best man.

The reception was held in the Bay Street Armory, where the newly-married couple used a claret-colored cake, which was topped with a miniature bride and groom. The bride's mother wore a light blue dress with red accessories and white carnation corsage, while the groom's mother chose a turquoise ensemble with pink carnation corsage.

For a honeymoon in Vancouver, the new Mrs. McLeod donned a light tan suit with black and mauve accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The couple will reside at 1047 Balmoral Road.

'Maggie' Men Will Leave Hospital Soon

HALIFAX (CP) — A naval spokesman said Sunday 47 naval ratings laid low by a methyl alcohol binge aboard the aircraft carrier Magnificent will begin leaving hospital "by twos and threes" this week.

All 47 were described as "doing well" by the Stadacona shore base hospital where they were taken more than a week ago after the clandestine spree with poisonous duplicating machine fluid.

HALIFAX (CP) — A Baptist minister said from his pulpit Sunday that a recent methyl alcohol binge aboard the aircraft carrier Magnificent illustrated the need for making the navy "dry."

Rev. A. J. Langley also proposed a civilian commission be set up to find out if naval officers are setting the right example for the men.

"The time has come to break with British tradition and have a dry navy," the minister said.

NOTED SCHOLAR and scientist, Dr. Robert C. Wallace, 73, died at Toronto Saturday. Vice-chancellor and principal of Queen's University for 15 years until his retirement three years ago, he also had been president of University of Alberta for eight years. Orkney-born and an Edinburgh University graduate, Dr. Wallace came to Canada in 1910 to lecture at University of Manitoba on geology and mineralogy.

Centennial Congregation Increases 50%

A 50 per cent increase in membership since 1950 was reported at Centennial United Church annual meeting last week, bringing the congregation to strength of 632 parishioners, under leadership of Rev. Douglas B. Carr.

During 1954, membership increased by 103, of which 34 are non-resident.

Capacity of the church hall was doubled by addition of a wing containing a completely equipped kitchen and additional Sunday school space.

Treasurer George R. Tucker reported a total $23,000 collected for all purposes during the past year, with $6,000 for construction and $4,000 for missionary work. New construction was largely undertaken by volunteers directed by Howard B. Harris.

New elders elected to the church session were: S. A. Campbell, E. DeBow, Keith Dillabaugh, Maurice Flett, Stanley Henderson, N. A. Houghton, George H. Magwood, J. H. Sneddon and C. J. Stoffels.

New stewards are: Frank Burden, Dave Bennett, A. Blakeley, A. Bryce, W. Menzies, Mrs. W. Gibb, John Clegg, John Paul and George Kraft.

Mr. Paul was named auditor and Thomas Fletcher head usher. J. S. Carmichael and W. J. E. Jamieson are delegates to Presbytery and Conference.

Airman Injured at Vancouver Recovers

VANCOUVER (CP) — The streets were quiet here during the week-end and police reported no recurrence of the riots which sent four persons to hospital and landed 13 others in jail.

Of the four injured, only one, LAC Allan Hulbert, remained in hospital, where his condition was good.

Of the 13 arrested, nine were fined a total of $130 on drunkenness charges.

The first outbreak came in Chinatown, a neon-lit three blocks just off the skidroad, where, police said, a remark made to a woman touched off a small fight. Before it was over, more than 20 persons were struggling in the road on Pender Street and three police cars and two beat officers had been called.

Seven men and a woman were taken to the police station. Later, a fight developed in an east end auto court when two carloads of intruders tried to crash a party.

"The cabin was almost torn apart," assistant-manager Tim O'Kane said.

Police said LAC Hulbert was found unconscious, with head injuries, after the hundreds of spectators had been cleared from the Chinatown outbreak. He suffered head injuries. Three persons were held without charge in connection with the assault.

More Than 100 Attend Scout Patrol Parley

A Greater Victoria district Scout patrol leaders conference was held Saturday at St. Mary's Church Hall, Oak Bay, with more than 100 in attendance.

They were welcomed by Assistant District Commissioner Martin Dawson. Among the visitors was field commissioner Jim Blain, from the Provincial Council, and area commissioner Carl Spitz from Seattle, who had with him four Scouts from Troop 2.

The afternoon sessions included talks on Scouts and their service to the community; patrol camping; the St. John Ambulance Association gave a demonstration of "resuscitation"; a practical demonstration of a high lead transporter built across Bowker Creek was put on by Scouters George Bennett and Freeman King.

Speaker at the supper was Rev. James Smith of the Emmanuel Baptist Church. He stressed the living of the Scout law and promise, particularly that a scout must make it a living practice to do his duty to God and his fellow men.

At the evening sessions an interesting display and talk on edible plants was given by patrol leader Alex Burchell of the Colwood Troop. Rover Scouts outlined their ideals as applied to the senior branch of scouting. The evening concluded with a campfire and sing-song.

More Comfort Wearing FALSE TEETH

Here is a pleasant way to overcome loose plate discomfort. FASTEETH, an improved powder, sprinkled on upper and lower plates holds them firmer so that they feel more comfortable. No gummy, goopy, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug counter.

Churchill Urges Prompt Cease-Fire UN Debates Invitation to Red China

HUTCHISON FROM OTTAWA

PM-Duplessis Fight Looks Like a Draw

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
Editor of the Victoria Daily Times

OTTAWA—The centre of Canada's fiscal gravity has been drastically shifted by the emergence of a completely new federal-provincial tax system. But what of the political gravity? Who, in short, has won the long struggle between the federal and Quebec governments and between two eminent French Canadians, Louis St. Laurent and Maurice Duplessis?

The answer to that question is essentially Canadian—neither side has won. Not yet anyway. Nevertheless, a new chain of political circumstances has begun and its results, though incalculable, are bound to affect the whole body politic from now on.

The St. Laurent government, to begin with, has definitely retreated in a financial sense by giving Mr. Duplessis a huge financial concession. Federal income taxes in Quebec—or any province, which refuses to rent its basic taxes to Ottawa—are to be reduced by 10 per cent.

Thus all such provinces have been given a field of their own where they can collect large income, and also corporation taxes, if they wish to do so without double-taxing their people. Few will do so, but the basic Rowell-Sirois theory that the great direct tax fields should be under federal control has been quietly abandoned after being stubbornly bornly defended since the early Second World War years.

Mr. Duplessis says he has not received full justice from the federal government and his grudging acceptance of Ottawa's new policy is a kind of political victory for Mr. St. Laurent. For if Mr. Duplessis had been fully satisfied, the result among English-speaking voters would have been extremely dangerous to the federal government. It would have been said that a French-Canadian prime minister had surrendered to a nationalist leader of his own race.

Certainly there has been a partial surrender of an existing federal tax policy, but in fact that policy was so unjust to the people of Quebec that it could no longer be maintained. True enough, the injustice was actually imposed by Mr. Duplessis when he refused to accept federal subsidies, already accepted by all other provinces. A national government, however, is responsible for the whole nation and could not tolerate an injustice to a third of that nation.

Advance Into New Tax Policy

What was a retreat in a strictly fiscal sense was therefor really an advance into a new national tax policy, the full contents of which will not be revealed until a federal-provincial conference next autumn.

How will all this affect the voters of Quebec and the English-speaking provinces? Mr. Duplessis' prestige must be high today for he has established his own clear tax fields—limited but lucrative.

Temporarily the Federal Government knows that it has disturbed many English-speaking voters who expected Mr. St. Laurent to move on from his historic Reform Club speech into a broad attack on Mr. Duplessis and Quebec isolationism. The disappointment, Ottawa thinks, will be temporary and will be forgotten when a new federal-provincial tax system is revealed a few months hence.

Pearson Plane Held Ready

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Laurent's C-54 RCAF plane is "standing by as a routine measure," an air force spokesman said today.

But he denied a report in the Daily Express that the RCAF has undertaken to get External Affairs Minister Pearson "back to Ottawa, and then return the prime minister, and have both ministers in Ottawa within 24 hours if need be."

Bone Returned to Girl's Limb After Cancer Killed by Cooking

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Dr. Vernon P. Thompson told today how he removed a cancerous bone from the thigh of a 20-year-old girl, cooked it in a sterilizer to kill the growth and then replaced it in her leg. He said the girl had a localized cancer in a six-inch piece

CLOUDS DELAY SEARCH FOR RCAF JET

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Thick, low clouds rolled in over the British Columbia coast today, preventing search planes from continuing the hunt for a T-33 jet training plane missing and believed crashed with two men aboard. The plane was believed to have gone down somewhere in the remote coast mountain range about 90 miles north of Vancouver while on a flight from Gimli, Man. Aboard were PO K. Bradley of Belleville, Ont., and J. L. Nelson of Ottawa. Both are married. The trainer was last heard from just after 3 p.m. (PST) Saturday afternoon. It was last seen on an RCAF radar screen between Lillooet and Bridge Rivers.

CBC Faces Strike Vote Wednesday

Board Rejects
Wage Demands

OTTAWA (BUP)—A conciliation board report released today rejected the wage and other demands of some 770 technicians of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

A strike vote of the employees has been called for Wednesday. The corporation, in a prepared statement issued today by general manager Alphonse Oulmet, said Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg had been informed by letter that the CBC would accept the majority report of the federal conciliation board. The majority report was signed by the chairman, Prof. C. H. Curtis, Kingston, Ont., and H. Brooke Bell, Toronto, representative of the corporation.

MINORITY REPORT

A minority report, signed by Miller Stewart, Sturgeon Point, Ont., the nominee of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians (CIO-CLE), disagreed entirely on the matters of overtime, classification and the handling of multiple functions by an employee.

The union represents master control men, sound effects specialists, maintenance crews and engineers. Personnel in television affected are cameramen, microphone boom operators, lighting men, projectionists, film processors and control room workers. A strike of the workers would tie up both the radio and television networks of the corporation.

Britain Stands Fast As U.S. Ally

LONDON (AP)—Commonwealth prime ministers tonight were reported agreed that the Nationalist Chinese should surrender islands off the China coast—Quemoy, Matsu and the Tachens—as part of a deal for a Formosa cease-fire.

By KENNETH MILLER

LONDON (UP)—Sir Winston Churchill told leaders of the British Commonwealth today that they must not be drawn into a policy on Formosa that would "inflict dishonor or humiliation" on the United States or the United Nations.

Authoritative sources disclosed the content of the prime minister's speech, which was delivered behind closed doors of 10 Downing Street at the opening of a conference of the leaders of all the Commonwealth nations.

Churchill stuck to this previously declared British policy in the Pacific crisis:

1. That the first objective must be to get the shooting stopped.

2. That nothing can be gained by attempting now to apportion blame for the Formosa dispute.

Political and government feeling on Formosa has run against the United States in some Commonwealth areas—notably in India and in some sections of Britain itself. Former Laborite British prime minister Clement Attlee has accused the United States of intervening in Red China's civil war.

Both Churchill and Eden have stressed that attempts to fix blame cannot help to produce a solution. And Russia's resolution in the United Nations, seeking to place the blame for the Formosa crisis on the United States, falls in this category.

SITUATION "GRAVE"

The 80-year-old Churchill, who has anchored his policies for the United States alliance with the United States, described the Formosa crisis as "grave." Sources reporting on the conference said he commended New Zealand's efforts in the U.N. to get Communist China to attend a meeting and discuss a cease-fire.

"It would be a prudent course," he said, to direct efforts to stop the Formosan fighting. He described efforts in that direction as "a duty we owe to peace and to our own consciences."

Authoritative sources said Churchill noted that one key point of Britain's previously stated position has been a public declaration of faith that the United States "has no aggressive intentions."

STANDS WITH U.S.

These sources said the significant fact of Churchill's statement was his emphasis that he has no intention of turning against his American ally if the Formosa crisis forces the world to choose up sides.

Churchill met with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and other members of the cabinet at No. 10 Downing Street after driving to London from his country home where he conferred Sunday with Commonwealth representatives.

Eden reported to Churchill on his meeting Sunday night with Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru on a Formosa cease-fire and on his talks with New Zealand's Prime Minister Sidney G. Holland, whose country is sponsoring the cease-fire resolution in the United Nations.

U.S. Fleet Still Awaits Move-In Order

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Communist guns on recently captured Yikiangshan belched in the direction of the tense Tachens tonight but the Chinese Nationalist defense ministry said all the shells landed in the sea.

The combat-ready U.S. Seventh Fleet stood by for possible orders to evacuate the Tachens islands, 200 miles north of Formosa and eight miles south of Yikiangshan, but the U.S. Navy chief in the Pacific said Sunday such orders had not yet been given. The defense ministry reported all was quiet farther south in the Quemoy area.

PRINCESS WINGS OVER ATLANTIC

Winds May Force Royal Plane To Refuel at Montreal Airport

LONDON (AP)—Princess Elizabeth waved good-bye at London airport.

Once she reaches the Caribbean Princess Margaret will transfer to the royal yacht Britannia and visit Tobago, Grenada, St. Vincent, the Barbados, Antigua, St. Kitts, Jamaica and the Bahamas. She will return home by plane March 2.

Just before the plane departed it was announced that the first stop would be Goose Bay, Labrador, rather than Gander, Nfld., because snow was forecast at Gander. Atlantic weather was forecast stable.

"If fair winds prevail, however, the aircraft may over fly either place and land at Montreal," a spokesman for British Overseas Airways Corporation said.

Princess Margaret's personal standard was broken out at the nose of the airliner as she went aboard. The Queen, the Duke and the Queen Mother went aboard with her for last farewells and then came back down the gangway. The princess smiled and blew a kiss to them.

Russia Demands U.S. Quit Formosa

MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov announced today that he has relayed to Red China Britain's recommendations that Peking accept a United Nations invitation to join in a debate on the Formosa crisis.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Sir Leslie Knox Munro of New Zealand, president of the UN Security Council, proposed today that Red China be invited to send a representative here to take part in the debate on a Formosan cease-fire.

Munro made his proposal immediately after the council refused to consider a Soviet demand that Nationalist China be barred from the debate.

The New Zealand diplomat suggested that the council suspend its discussions until the Chinese Communists can get a representative here.

He said UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld already had established contact with the Peiping regime. Hammarskjöld, he said, should urge the Communists to accept the invitation.

The council ran into its first controversy when the Soviet delegate tossed in his demand to bar the Nationalists. The vote was 10 to 1, with only the Soviet voting to consider excluding Nationalist China.

The move to throw out the Soviet demand was made by chief U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and quickly drew support of the other big Western powers.

The Western powers thus won the first round test as the 11-nation council squared off to seek an end to the fighting between Chinese Nationalists and Communist forces.

The council then began a procedural debate on the form of its agenda.

Soviet Move Complicates Issue

The issue was complicated by a Soviet move to include on the agenda a charge of aggression against the United States and a demand that all U.S. forces be withdrawn from the Formosa area.

The Soviet proposal to oust the Nationalists was made by Soviet delegate Arkady Sobolev immediately after the Security Council met.

Sobolev said: "The great Chinese people have their own state, the People's Republic of China, created by their own will. Only they are entitled to represent the people in the great arena of the United Nations. Instead, the representative of a bankrupt group sits here."

He moved a formal resolution that Nationalist China be barred from the council table.

Henri Hoppenot of France objected to the Soviet resolution.

"The representative of the Republic of China," he said, "is sitting amongst us according to the powers vested in him by his government as a permanent member of our organization. His credentials have been recognized by the Security Council and other bodies of the United Nations. There is no reason to go back on that recognition previously granted."

Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang called the Soviet move "another instance of Soviet aggression and imperialism against my country."

Chief U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge moved that the council refuse to consider the Soviet resolution. He was supported by the British delegate, Sir Pierson Dixon.

Dixon said he would favor an invitation to Red China to send a representative here for the current debate, but that the question of China representation should not be considered at this time.

Some Day—But Not at This Time

"My government," he said, "recognizes the People's Republic of China and that the question of representation must some day be decided here. But not at this time. Her Majesty's government feels it is neither wise nor timely to consider it at this time."

Diplomatic observers had expected the council to reach quick agreement on a proposal to invite Communist China to participate in the discussions on ending the fighting between the Communists and the Nationalist forces.

David Johnson, head of Canada's permanent delegation at the UN, had predicted that the session would be finished in a day, recessing for approximately two weeks until the Chinese delegates arrived.

The UN charter requires that both sides in a dispute be invited to be represented. If Red China does send spokesmen, they will be able only to speak, not to vote.

Sir Leslie Knox Munro, Council president for January—Peru's Victor A. Belaunde takes over Tuesday in alphabetical succession—prepared today's agenda.

ATTLEE WILL SPEAK HERE IN MID-APRIL

Former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee will wind up a trans-Canada speaking tour in Victoria in mid-April, it was learned from Vancouver provincial CCF offices today.

Dates are not yet set but it has been assured that the leader of Britain's Labor Party will speak here under auspices of the Victoria-Oak Bay CCF.

Harold Thayer, CCF provincial secretary, said Mr. Attlee will be fulfilling a promise made last year when he returned from Vancouver from a trip to Red China. Exhausted from his Far East tour, he was unable to appear at the many functions which had been planned in his honor, here and on the mainland.

Is REPORTED URGING CHANGING YIELD ISLANDS

Conference Agreed on Peace Deal

LONDON (AP)—Commonwealth prime ministers tonight were reported to have agreed that the Nationalist Chinese should surrender islands off the China coast—Quemoy, Matsu and the Tachens—as part of a deal for a Formosa cease-fire.
Diplomatic informants said the broad agreement became apparent after the leaders of nine Commonwealth nations met privately to open a 10-day conference.
The general feeling was that the Chinese Nationalists should retain their main bases, Formosa and the Pescadores, giving up the islands close to the Red China coast and leaving a 100-mile-wide buffer between them and the mainland.

China Gets British Word on Bid to UN

MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov announced today that he has relayed to Red China Britain's recommendations that Peiping accept a United Nations invitation to join in a debate on the Formosa crisis.

Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang called the Soviet move "another instance of Soviet aggression and imperialism against my country."
Chief U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge moved that the council refuse to consider the Soviet resolution. He was supported by the British delegate, Sir Pierson Dixon.
Dixon said he would favor an (Continued on Page 22)

CLOUDS DELAY SEARCH FOR RCAF JET

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Thick, low clouds rolled in over the British Columbia coast today, preventing search planes from continuing the hunt for a T-33 jet training plane missing and believed crashed with two men aboard.
The plane was believed to have gone down somewhere in the remote coast mountain range about 90 miles north of Vancouver while on a flight from Gimli, Man. Aboard were FO K. Bradley of Belleville, Ont., and J. L. Nelson of Ottawa. Both are married.
The trainer was last heard from just after 3 p.m. (PST) Saturday afternoon. It was last seen on an RCAF radar screen between Lilloet and Bridge Rivers.

PRINCESS WINGS OVER ATLANTIC

Winds May Allow Royal Plane To Refuel at Montreal Airport

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret left today in the Strato-cruiser Canopus for a month's tour of the West Indies. If winds are favorable, she will go via Montreal.
This was the first trans-Atlantic flight for the 24-year-old princess and the first Commonwealth tour she has made on her own.
Elizabeth waved good-bye at London airport.
Once she reaches the Caribbean Princess Margaret will transfer to the royal yacht Britannia and visit Tobago, Grenada, St. Vincent, the Barbados, Antigua, St. Kitts, Jamaica and the Bahamas. She will return home by plane March 2.
Just before the plane departed it was announced that the first stop would be Goose Bay, Labrador, rather than Gander, Nfld., because snow was forecast at Gander. At (Continued on Page 22)
